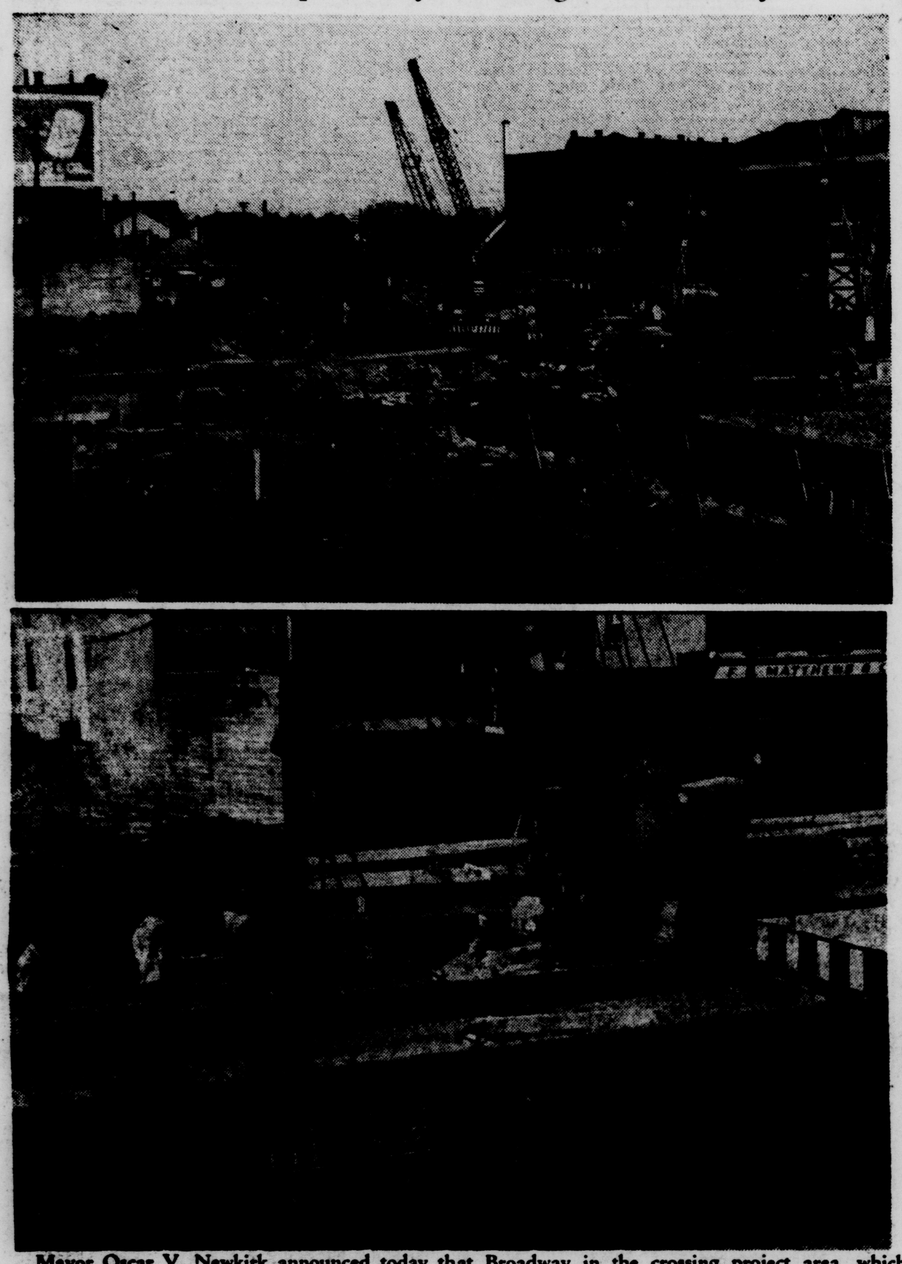
Allies Forge Solid Lineup Across Korea As 10th Corps Joins With Eighth Army

Break in Pipe Delays Closing of Broadway



Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk announced today that Broadway in the crossing project area, which was scheduled to be closed next Tuesday, Nov. 14, will not be closed to traffic until at least 10 days later than that date. The postponement, he said, is to allow sufficent time to mend a break in an old pipe line. The closing date and detour routes will be announced. GOP Might Ask Lasting Committee

Un-American Activities Group Would Be Permanent, if Plan Is Followed

May Be Discussed

Senate Republicans Are to Get Together Late This Month

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Encouraged by the election results to press for a new Communists-in-government inquiry, some Republicans may try in January to set up a permanent Senate Committee on Un-American Activities.

The investigating unit they have in mind would be patterned, so far as scope is concerned, after the existing House committee.

There is some talk, too, that a joint congressional committee ought to bet set up incorporating the House group and a Senate delegation.

Those ideas could come up for discussion when a group of Senate Republicans gets together at the capitol Nov. 27 to talk over the gains their party made at the polls and to plan ahead.

That is the day the "lame duck" session of the expiring 81st Congress will meet, unless President Truman calls the lawmakers back earlier. The President reportedly will decide when he returns from a short cruise this week-end.

Would Need Help

From a numerical standpoint Senate Republicans would need the help of some but probably not many Democrats to create such a Senate committee.

In the new 82nd Congress which convenes Jan. 3 the Republicans will have 47 seats as against the Democrats' 49. The present split is 54 Democrats and 42 Republicans.

Assuming virtually solid G.O.P. support for the committee idea, the Republicans would need to win over only a couple of Democrats to set up a new inquiry group. That might prove difficult, however, in view of the bitter party-line row stirred up by the recent inquiry into the Communists-in-government charges of Senator McCarthy (R.-Wis.).

On the other hand, Republicans are inclined to think the outcome of Tuesday's congressional elections may bring some Democrats into their camp on the Communist issue.

Might Have Effect

McCarthy predicted to a reporter that the defeat of Senator Tydings (D-Md.) might well have that effect. Tydings headed the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee which investigated McCarthy's accusations that the State Department harbored Communists and fellow travelers.

Tydings and the other Democrats on the inquiry committee labeled the charges "a fraud and

Telephone Workers Withdraw Pickets From Some Exchanges

New Strategy Is Said to Be 'Push Button' Strike Tactic for Equipment Workers; Long Distance Service Affected

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Striking telephone equipment workers abruptly withdrew picket lines from some exchanges across the country today in an apparent launching of a new "push button" strike tactic.

Idea of the strategy, as described by union spokesmen, was to employ surprise picketing concentrating lines in some places, not in others, and picketing on some days and not on other days.

The strike, called yesterday by the C.I.O. Communications Workers of America to enforce demands for a "substantial boost" in wages from the Western Electric Company, slowed long distance service because operators refused to cross picket lines.

Local dial service was not affected generally, but in cases of manually operated telephones only emergency calls were connected.

The union, which represents 17,000 Western Electric employes, rejected a company offer of about 11 cents an hour additional in wages. Present wages now average $1.55 to $1.62 an hour. The union has not disclosed its specific wage demands. Length of contract also is an issue.

First Indication Comes

First indication of the start of the new strike technique came when pickets suddenly left telephone buildings in Dallas, Texas, Denver, and Newark and other New Jersey cities. Pickets also failed to show up in Springfield, Mo., and other Missouri communities.

"We don't know what it means," said a southwestern Bell Telephone official in Dallas. "We understand they will allow the other workers to be on the job today—and then maybe stop them again tomorrow."

He called the plan a "war of nerves."

As part of the plan, union spokesmen have said they intended to use mass, roving picket armies to concentrate on certain areas on certain days. There also was talk of "jamming" local and long-distance circuits by placing useless calls.

Riseley Nominated For Generalship in U. S. Marine Corps

Commander of N.R.O.T.C. at Princeton Will Be on Vacancy List for Honors

Colonel James P. Riseley, U.S.M.C., commanding officer of the Princeton N.R.O.T.C. unit, has been chosen by a Marine Corps selection board to be promoted to the rank of brigadier general, Commander F. E. Fleck, U.S.N. executive officer of the unit, recently announced.

Colonel Riseley, a son of Mrs. J. H. Riseley of 121 Fair street, and the late Joseph H. Riseley, Jr., is a graduate of Kingston High School and well known here.

The selection of Colonel Riseley does not carry with it an automatic immediate promotion, but he will be the first of seven colonels named at this time to fill vacancies as they occur. Presumably, his promotion will become effective within a few months, Commander Fleck said.

Decorated for Action

A graduate of Annapolis, class of 1922, Colonel Riseley was executive officer of the Eighth Marine Regiment when it became the first organization to leave the United States after the declaration of war, on January 6, 1942. After an eight months' stay on the island of Samoa, Colonel Riseley's regiment landed at Guadalcanal November 4, 1942, almost two months after the initial landing there, with the Second Marine Division. For their action on Guadalcanal, the division won the Presidential Unit Citation.

A second star was added to the citation for the division's landing on Tarawa. Colonel Riseley was then named to command the Sixth Marine Regiment, which participated in the Saipan and Tinian landings. He won the Legion of

Three Youngsters From New Paltz Get in Difficulty

One Is Charged With Carrying Loaded Gun Without Permit

Three young New Paltz men got in trouble with the local police last night and on one of them was found a "homemade" .22 calibre pistol, police said.

Silas John Williams, 18, of 12 Water street, New Paltz was arrested at police headquarters shortly after the arrest of the other two, and was charged with "carrying a loaded firearm without a permit."

The case was adjourned until tomorrow morning when Williams appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

The first of the trio arrested was Ross Crawford, 17, of New Paltz, who was charged with public intoxication. He was arrested by Officer Louis Sapp, Jr., on North Front near Green street at 1:03 a. m. Officers William Hanley and Raymond Wells were dispatched in a patrol car to bring him to headquarters.

Crawford Bruised

The police report said Crawford was bruised as the result of a fall and that prior to his arrest he had suffered cuts on the hands "as the result of punching parking meters along North Front street."

Crawford continued unruly after he was brought to headquarters, police said, and a later report indicated he might have been the cause of a cracked window in the patrol car. Judge Mino sentenced him to pay a fine of $10 or spend 10 days in jail. The fine was not produced immediately.

Sentence Suspended

The next of the trio arrested was Howard Tillinghast, 19, of 12 Water street, New Paltz, also by Officer Sapp on Fair near John street at 1:20 a. m. He was charged with disorderly conduct and was given a suspended sentence today.

The pistol, which police said they found on young Williams, had apparently been made from a .22 rifle. It was sawed off several inches beyond the bolt and was attached to a crudely made handle. It contained a bullet when it was taken from the youth, police said.

Williams was arrested at police headquarters by Officers Van-Steenburgh and Loughran at 1:35 a. m.

Chinese Have 300,000 Massed Near Border and Situation Now Held Ominous

Sino Withdrawal Hasty; Allied Airpower Hits at Troops

Seoul, Nov. 10 (AP)—The allies forged a steel band across North Korea's narrow waist today with the linkup of U. S. Tenth Corps forces from the east and Eighth Army elements from the west.

A.P. Correspondent William Jorden reported the linkup was made southeast of Tokchon, in north-central Korea. It came as Chinese Communists just north of the Manchurian border continued their ominous buildup of troops—now reported at some 300,000.

Other Chinese Red forces already in Korea, estimated at about 60,000 were withdrawing into far North Korea's wooded mountain fastness under constant lashing by allied air power.

U. S. planes hit 10 Russian-built tanks and Red transport southeast of the border.

Bombers and jet fighters carrying half-ton bombs smashed at Red supply lines near and south of the Yalu river boundary of Communist Manchuria.

In Two Chases

American and Red jet fighters engaged in two flashing chases near the major Red crossing point—the northwest border town of Sinuiju. No plane losses on either side were reported.

U. S. jets destroyed eight enemy tanks and damaged two in Red territory south and southeast of Sinuiju. Twenty-five trucks and other vehicles were destroyed and seven trucks damaged.

The puzzling lull in the ground action continued into its fifth day. There was only patrol action and minor skirmishing.

Inland from the east coast, the U. S. Marines observed the 175th anniversary of the corps by rolling onto a plateau to within three miles of the vital Changjin power dam. It was a gain of six miles.

There was no opposition. Abandoned packs indicated the haste of the Chinese withdrawal.

South Koreans Lead

A U. S. First Corps spokesman said the day's greatest advance—likewise unopposed—was registered by the South Korean Capital Division in the far northeast—an 11-mile thrust north of Kilchu.

That's about 75 miles south of the Manchurian border. Elsewhere cross the peninsula, the allied line was 45 to 50 miles south of the touchy boundary. Before the Red counterattacks last week, the allies had shoved to the border at one point and 15 miles from it at another.

A U. S. Eighth Army spokesman reported to be establishing a defense line in the mountains. He added that they had taken considerable losses from aerial and artillery fire.

Denies Overcharge On Gottfried Rent, Says $75 for Office

An answer denying the allegations contained in an action for treble damages for an alleged overcharge of rental for premises owned by Rea B. Taylor, located at 238 Washington avenue, Kingston, has been filed in United States District Court, Southern District of New York, by the defendant.

The answer of the defendant denies an overcharge and alleges that Herman Gottfried, former assistant corporation counsel for the City of New York, entered into a lease on May 21, 1948, with the owner who resides at 32 Janet street, to lease the property on Washington avenue for a law office and agreed to pay $75 a month for the premises for a year from June 1, 1948.

Defendant alleges in the answer that the premises were leased as a business property and not for residential use and that the lease would not have been executed had it been known the property was to be used for residential purposes and not for professional purposes.

The defendant, Taylor, in the answer alleges fraud on the part of the lessee and asks for dismissal of the complaint or in the event the plaintiff recovers judgment on his complaint, then the defendant demands affirmative judgment in a like amount together with the costs and disbursements of the action.

Cashin & Ewig appear for the defendant, Rea B. Taylor, and Nathan W. Math of 111 Broadway, New York, appears for Gottfried.

A complaint was filed in United States District Court, Southern District of New York, by plaintiff, Herman Gottfried, on October 23, 1950, in which he alleges he leased the premises about May 21, 1948 for $75 a month. He alleged in his complaint that he vacated in February 1950 and states that during that time he overpaid for rental of the premises. He alleges under the Housing and Rent Act the

Appellate Ruling Throws Snag Into Gambling Probe

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Brooklyn gambling probe struck a minor legal snag yesterday.

The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court freed former Police Inspector Frederick A. Hofsaes of contempt charges brought abou by his refusal to talk before the rackets-investigating grand jury.

Hofsaes was cited for contempt Oct. 19 by Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz after he refused to answer questions relating to an alleged gift of a television set from Harry Gross. Gross, 34, admitted he was head of a $20,000,000-a-year bookie ring operating under a $1,000,000-a-year police protection payoff.

Leibowitz sentenced the former police officer to 30 days in jail and fined him $250.

The unanimous decision of the Appellate Court, however, left a legal loophole for transfer of the case to another court.

The tribunal said its findings were "without prejudice" to the recalling of Hofsaes as a witness "to compel relator to answer the question upon which the contempt proceedings was founded."

It appeared that District Attorney Miles F. McDonald, who spearheaded the gambling probe, either would have the case taken to the Court of Appeals or summon Hofsaes again before the grand jury and question him without the authority of a waiver.

Hofsaes would have complete immunity from prosecution but could again be cited for contempt if he declined to submit to questioning.

Hofsaes first appeared before the grand jury on O t. 6 under a waiver of immunity signed while a member of the police department. The former inspector retired later the same day, an hour and 15 minutes before he was suspended by Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy.

When first summoned to testify, Hofsaes was required to sign a waiver of immunity or face loss of his job and his pension rights.

The Appellate Court ruled he had the right to withdraw his waiver of immunity.

But with the waiver of immunity disposed of, the court added, Hofsaes must talk or his conduct will be contempt.

A number of other members of the police department have retired rather than go before the grand jury under a waiver of immunity, and thus face possible prosecution based on their testimony.

Late Bulletin

Islip, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP) — A canvass showed today Rep. W. Kingsland Macy, Suffolk county Republican leader, and chief figure in the "Hanley letter" episode, was defeated in the race for reelection Tuesday by Ernest Greenwood, Democrat-Liberal, by 126 votes.

The tabulation gave Greenwood 76,374 to Macy's 76,248. It was announced by William D. Meisser, Jr., Republican and chairman of the Nassau county board of elections, and W. G. Harisdon, Democrat and chairman of the Suffolk county board.

Macy carried his own county of Suffolk by a vote of 48,533 to Greenwood's 46,733. However, Greenwood more than overcame this lead in the Nassau section of the first congressional district, where his vote was 29,641 to Macy's 27,715.

Sawyer Says Full Rearmament Act Will Hit U. S. in Spring

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, forecasting that the full impact of rearmament will hit industry "next spring or summer," said today the government has dropped the idea of controlling production by voluntary means.

The National Production Authority, Sawyer told a news conference, will rely chiefly on mandatory orders because voluntary industry-wide compacts "just won't work."

The secretary gave assurance however, that N.P.A. will try not to curtail civilian goods output so rapidly as to cause temporary idleness and slack business before military buying hits its stride.

Sawyer also reported:

1. The steel industry may "substantially increase" its plant expansion program above the 9,500,000 tons already assured by the end of 1952.

2. He expects the expansion to continue at the same rate after 1952, thereby bringing steel-making capacity to about 120,000,000 tons a year by the end of 1954.

3. He is confident that looming bottlenecks in manganese, iron ore and ore boats will be overcome. All are vital to expanding steel production.

Fight Is Promised

Relief From New Orders Sought by Sellers of Used Cars

Dallas, Nov. 10 (AP)—Used car dealers of the nation promised a fight to get relief from new government credit regulations.

At their fourth annual convention here yesterday, they said the automobile business is off 50 to 75 per cent.

President Martin McCollum of Flint, Mich., asserted "the average worker is being forced to buy a cheaper car at a higher price and that just doesn't make sense."

Most of yesterday was spent drawing up a protest to Washington on Regulation W of the new rules—the one that requires at least a third down and the balance to be paid in no more than 15 months on any automobile costing more than $50.

Aldermen Recess To Nov. 21 to Study Two City Projects

Mayor Asks Money, Action to Eliminate Dump, Twaalfskill Brook as Soon as Possible

Two city projects, the enlargement of the Wilbur avenue incinerator and piping of the Twaalfskill brook in the Elizabeth street area, were left in committee at the Common Council session last night for possible action at a recessed meeting Nov. 21.

Both projects had been previously introduced, and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, as president of the Board of Public Works, asked that they be reported out of committee.

The incinerator project, which the mayor said, "will provide for early elimination of the Sterling street dump" require an appropriation of $50,000 and that for "the piping of the Twaalfskill brook and its connection with the Washington avenue tunnel" will require $30,000.

The mayor's letter on the latter, which is known as "The Elizabeth Street Project," said that on Oct. 26, 1949 the B.P.W. asked the council by letter to approve and make available $30,000 for the project, and he asked the finance committee to give it early consideration. He asked the same for the other project which had been introduced some time ago.

Alderman Charles J. Cole, 13th Ward, who is a member of the finance committee, after Alderman John Buboltz, Fourth ward, asked the reason for recessing the meeting, said it was to allow more time for further consideration of the projects.

Consumer Intake Reaches $228,300,000,000 Rate in September

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Consumer income boomed to an unprecedented $228,300,000,000 a year rate in September—up $2,900,000,000 from the previous record set in August.

In reporting this yesterday, the Commerce Department said the upward surge was swelled by a flood of corporate dividends and another rise in wage and salary payments.

The annual rate of non-farm income rose $4,200,000,000 to $211,500,000,000 while farm income dropped $1,300,000,000 to a $16,800,000,000 level.

The Commerce Department said the September decline in farm income was due to "a reduction, after seasonal adjustment, in the volume of crop marketings."

An answer denying the allegations contained in an action for treble damages for an alleged overcharge of rental for premises owned by Rea B. Taylor, located at 238 Washington avenue, Kingston, has been filed in United States District Court, Southern District of New York, by the defendant.

The answer of the defendant denies an overcharge and alleges that Herman Gottfried, former assistant corporation counsel for the City of New York, entered into a lease on May 21, 1948, with the owner who resides at 32 Janet street, to lease the property on Washington avenue for a law office and agreed to pay $75 a month for the premises for a year from June 1, 1948.

Defendant alleges in the answer that the premises were leased as a business property and not for residential use and that the lease would not have been executed had it been known the property was to be used for residential purposes and not for professional purposes.

The defendant, Taylor, in the answer alleges fraud on the part of the lessee and asks for dismissal of the complaint or in the event the plaintiff recovers judgment on his complaint, then the defendant demands affirmative judgment in a like amount together with the costs and disbursements of the action.

Cashin & Ewig appear for the defendant, Rea B. Taylor, and Nathan W. Math of 111 Broadway, New York, appears for Gottfried.

A complaint was filed in United States District Court, Southern District of New York, by plaintiff, Herman Gottfried, on October 23, 1950, in which he alleges he leased the premises about May 21, 1948 for $75 a month. He alleged in his complaint that he vacated in February 1950 and states that during that time he overpaid for rental of the premises. He alleges under the Housing and Rent Act the

Appellate Ruling Throws Snag Into Gambling Probe

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Brooklyn gambling probe struck a minor legal snag yesterday.

The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court freed former Police Inspector Frederick A. Hofsaes of contempt charges brought abou by his refusal to talk before the rackets-investigating grand jury.

Hofsaes was cited for contempt Oct. 19 by Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz after he refused to answer questions relating to an alleged gift of a television set from Harry Gross. Gross, 34, admitted he was head of a $20,000,000-a-year bookie ring operating under a $1,000,000-a-year police protection payoff.

Leibowitz sentenced the former police officer to 30 days in jail and fined him $250.

The unanimous decision of the Appellate Court, however, left a legal loophole for transfer of the case to another court.

The tribunal said its findings were "without prejudice" to the recalling of Hofsaes as a witness "to compel relator to answer the question upon which the contempt proceedings was founded."

It appeared that District Attorney Miles F. McDonald, who spearheaded the gambling probe, either would have the case taken to the Court of Appeals or summon Hofsaes again before the grand jury and question him without the authority of a waiver.

Hofsaes would have complete immunity from prosecution but could again be cited for contempt if he declined to submit to questioning.

Hofsaes first appeared before the grand jury on O t. 6 under a waiver of immunity signed while a member of the police department. The former inspector retired later the same day, an hour and 15 minutes before he was suspended by Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy.

When first summoned to testify, Hofsaes was required to sign a waiver of immunity or face loss of his job and his pension rights.

The Appellate Court ruled he had the right to withdraw his waiver of immunity.

But with the waiver of immunity disposed of, the court added, Hofsaes must talk or his conduct will be contempt.

A number of other members of the police department have retired rather than go before the grand jury under a waiver of immunity, and thus face possible prosecution based on their testimony.

Late Bulletin

Islip, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP) — A canvass showed today Rep. W. Kingsland Macy, Suffolk county Republican leader, and chief figure in the "Hanley letter" episode, was defeated in the race for reelection Tuesday by Ernest Greenwood, Democrat-Liberal, by 126 votes.

The tabulation gave Greenwood 76,374 to Macy's 76,248. It was announced by William D. Meisser, Jr., Republican and chairman of the Nassau county board of elections, and W. G. Harisdon, Democrat and chairman of the Suffolk county board.

Macy carried his own county of Suffolk by a vote of 48,533 to Greenwood's 46,733. However, Greenwood more than overcame this lead in the Nassau section of the first congressional district, where his vote was 29,641 to Macy's 27,715.

U.S. Drops Voluntary Production Proposal

Sawyer Says Full Rearmament Act Will Hit U. S. in Spring

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, forecasting that the full impact of rearmament will hit industry "next spring or summer," said today the government has dropped the idea of controlling production by voluntary means.

The National Production Authority, Sawyer told a news conference, will rely chiefly on mandatory orders because voluntary industry-wide compacts "just won't work."

The secretary gave assurance however, that N.P.A. will try not to curtail civilian goods output so rapidly as to cause temporary idleness and slack business before military buying hits its stride.

Sawyer also reported:

1. The steel industry may "substantially increase" its plant expansion program above the 9,500,000 tons already assured by the end of 1952.

2. He expects the expansion to continue at the same rate after 1952, thereby bringing steel-making capacity to about 120,000,000 tons a year by the end of 1954.

3. He is confident that looming bottlenecks in manganese, iron ore and ore boats will be overcome. All are vital to expanding steel production.

Fight Is Promised

Relief From New Orders Sought by Sellers of Used Cars

Dallas, Nov. 10 (AP)—Used car dealers of the nation promised a fight to get relief from new government credit regulations.

At their fourth annual convention here yesterday, they said the automobile business is off 50 to 75 per cent.

President Martin McCollum of Flint, Mich., asserted "the average worker is being forced to buy a cheaper car at a higher price and that just doesn't make sense."

Most of yesterday was spent drawing up a protest to Washington on Regulation W of the new rules—the one that requires at least a third down and the balance to be paid in no more than 15 months on any automobile costing more than $50.

36 Are Inducted

Local Board 19 (county) yesterday sent 36 men to Albany for induction. Local Board 18 is scheduled to ship a group for induction on Nov. 15.

Aldermen Recess To Nov. 21 to Study Two City Projects

Mayor Asks Money, Action to Eliminate Dump, Twaalfskill Brook as Soon as Possible

Two city projects, the enlargement of the Wilbur avenue incinerator and piping of the Twaalfskill brook in the Elizabeth street area, were left in committee at the Common Council session last night for possible action at a recessed meeting Nov. 21.

Both projects had been previously introduced, and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, as president of the Board of Public Works, asked that they be reported out of committee.

The incinerator project, which the mayor said, "will provide for early elimination of the Sterling street dump" require an appropriation of $50,000 and that for "the piping of the Twaalfskill brook and its connection with the Washington avenue tunnel" will require $30,000.

The mayor's letter on the latter, which is known as "The Elizabeth Street Project," said that on Oct. 26, 1949 the B.P.W. asked the council by letter to approve and make available $30,000 for the project, and he asked the finance committee to give it early consideration. He asked the same for the other project which had been introduced some time ago.

Alderman Charles J. Cole, 13th Ward, who is a member of the finance committee, after Alderman John Buboltz, Fourth ward, asked the reason for recessing the meeting, said it was to allow more time for further consideration of the projects.

Income Increases

Consumer Intake Reaches $228,300,000,000 Rate in September

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Consumer income boomed to an unprecedented $228,300,000,000 a year rate in September—up $2,900,000,000 from the previous record set in August.

In reporting this yesterday, the Commerce Department said the upward surge was swelled by a flood of corporate dividends and another rise in wage and salary payments.

The annual rate of non-farm income rose $4,200,000,000 to $211,500,000,000 while farm income dropped $1,300,000,000 to a $16,800,000,000 level.

The Commerce Department said the September decline in farm income was due to "a reduction, after seasonal adjustment, in the volume of crop marketings."

Faulkner, Russell Given Nobel Prizes For Their Writings

Stockholm, Sweden, Nov. 10 (AP)—American Novelist William Faulkner and British Philosopher Bertrand Russell were awarded Nobel literary prizes today for 1949 and 1950.

The Swedish Academy elected Faulkner, of Oxford, Miss., as winner of the 1949 prize—withheld last fall. This year's prize was given to 78-year-old Russell, internationally famed philosopher, mathematician and moralist.

The winners were selected from among more than 50 candidates. They will receive the awards from the new Swedish King, Gustaf VI, when the Nobel Foundation celebrates its 50th anniversary Dec. 10.

This year's prize money totals 164,303 krona ($31,715), while the sum frozen last year totaled 156,229 krona ($30,007).

This was the first time two full literary prizes had been awarded simultaneously.

Fourth American Winner

Faulkner is the fourth American to win the Nobel prize for literature. Others have gone to Novelists Sinclair Lewis and Pearl S. Buck, and Playwright Eugene O'Neill. Poet T. S. Eliot, American-born but now a British citizen, also received the prize.

The literary award was not made in 1949 because of a deadlock in the academy over a choice between British statesman and historian Winston Churchill and Italian philosopher Benedetto Croce. Neither figured in the final balloting this year.

The 53-year-old Faulkner, born near Oxford, Miss., and still living there, has authored some 20 books, including the best-selling "Sanctuary," "Intruder in the Dust," "Light in August" and "Absalom, Absalom!"

Critic and public alike have acclaimed him as one of America's greatest writers, in the same rank with O'Neill and Ernest Hemingway.

Was Mathematician

Russell, three times married, twice divorced, and now the third Earl Russell, was first of all a mathematician, and later applied the mathematical approach to cold reasoning in philosophy. But his voluminous work embraces dissertations on the history of philosophy, on morals, the frontiers of knowable science and on education.

His unorthodox views have generated many an intellectual storm. Ideas, for example, that marriage should be companionate and experimental rather than binding until the arrival of children or that most university students should have temporary, trial marriages caused a New York court in 1940 to revoke the philosopher's professorship at New York City College.

Has Lead of 500 Votes

Detroit, Nov. 10 (AP)—Governor G. Mennen Williams, 39-year-old Democrat first termer, edged into a lead of more than 500 votes today as a barrage of election errors and revisions by county canvassers cut the lead of Republican Harry F. Kelly in Michigan's gubernatorial race.

No Boost in Rents In View, Boss Says

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—State Rent Administrator Joseph D. McGoldrick yesterday knocked down reports that a general 15 per cent increase was contemplated.

He told a news conference there is "no thought" of such a hike.

McGoldrick said a report that forms had been printed for the increase was "an absolute lie."

The administrator issued a 350-page survey of rents and rental conditions in New York state.

The law requires the survey as a basis for changes in rent and eviction regulations, to be made by Dec. 1.

The changes will provide for individual adjustments in "hardship" cases.

McGoldrick said he had not reached any conclusions from the results of the survey.

Telephone Strike Has No Effect On N.Y. System

Keith S. McHugh, president of the New York Telephone Company, today made the following statement:

"From the inquiries we are receiving it seems clear that there is some confusion about telephone service in New York state.

"The fact is that no New York Telephone Company employes are on strike. New agreements have been reached with all unions representing our employes, 62,000 men and women. These agreements run for 18 months and provide for substantial wage increases.

"All local service is normal and we are completing most of our long distance calls excepting as we may find delays in completing some calls to certain points, mostly outside the state. We anticipate no difficulty in continuing to provide telephone service to our users."

General MacArthur's spokesman estimated Thursday 60,000 Chinese and about that many organized North Koreans faced United Nations forces south of the Yalu in Korea.

Communist China radio broadcasts called the Chinese troops "volunteers."

The world anxiously awaited the U.N. Security Council's action on a resolution demanding that Red China withdraw its troops. The U. S., Britain and France were among the resolution's sponsors.

The U. S. State Department directed that visas be issued to nine Chinese Communist representatives en route to Lake Success for discussions of Red charges of American aggression against Formosa.

However, the U. S. asked that charges of China's intervention in the Korean conflict be taken up Friday—ahead of the Chinese delegation's arrival.

Catches Two in Nude, She Wants $110,000

Los Angeles, Nov. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Alice H. Moore, 36, divorced wife of jewelry fortune heir John Chandler Moore, complains that he and his hired detectives invaded her privacy and she seeks $110,000 damages.

She contended in a suit filed yesterday that Moore broke into her home in the early morning hours of July 27. Under Moore's direction, she said, a photographer snapped pictures of her and a friend, Bruce B. Pierce, in the nude.

Mrs. Moore described her 36-year-old ex-husband as a member of New York's Tiffany family. She said he deserted her a year ago. In her loneliness, she said, she turned to Pierce, a 39-year-old film studio technician who treated her with "sympathy, tenderness and affection."

Moore obtained a divorce a week ago. Despite the photographic evidence Moore produced in court, Mrs. Moore claims, she and Pierce were not guilty of misconduct. He merely lived in the house. She said she was afraid to live alone.

Uptown Store Is Burglarized, Man Enters Local Home

Local police today were investigating a burglary in an uptown sporting goods store and what appears to have been an attempted burglary on West O'Reilly street.

John Cerasaro of the Cerasaro Brothers Sports Center, 336 Clinton avenue said that the place had been entered and although it had not been definitely determined how much merchandise was missing it was known that a hunting coat, .32 calibre rifle, some shells, a hunting shirt and flashlight were taken.

Through Rear Window

Police said entrance was gained through a rear window. It was also reported that the shells taken were not the size for the rifle and that an attempt to use them in the stolen rifle might cause injury.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krum are investigating the burglary which, it is believed, took place some time during the night or early morning.

The other report at 5:40 p. m. yesterday by Officers Harry Martin and Kenneth Stratton said that A. H. Smith of 68 West O'Reilly street, reported that as he drove in his driveway, "a young man climbed out of one of the windows of the house and ran up behind the high school."

The report also said "the man claims that some time ago his house was entered and $78 was stolen." This was not reported at the time. Nothing was found missing last night.

The report also said a car operated by a woman was seen parked near the house at the time. Detective Brophy is investigating.

Dukoff said he and Kaye will meet with Foster tonight, but that a decision is not likely for a week. The manager said Kaye has received another offer — $5,000 a night — from American impresario Sol Hurok for a U. S. concert tour next summer.

Cole Challenges Police, B.P.W. on Need for Light

Alderman Charles Cole, 13th Ward offered at last night's Common Council session to conduct his own traffic survey to show that the intersection at Dunn and Abeel streets is dangerous.

The alderman, after introducing an ordinance asking for restriction of parking on a Wilbur avenue area, said he had asked three years ago for a traffic light at Dunn and Abeel streets, and charged that the resolution had been "kicked around."

Alderman Benjamin A. Storms, Second ward, who is chairman of the traffic control committee, said the resolution had been referred to the B.P.W., which did not reply on the proposal.

Cole said the reply has always been that there is no money available for traffic lights. Then he asked "Where did they get the money," for the one at Pearl street and Washington avenue.

As though "out of nowhere," Cole said, came a "nice, new bright and shiny traffic light at Pearl street and Washington avenue."

Storms said it was found after study that the uptown intersection "was the scene of many serious and several minor accidents." The resolution was referred to his committee which decided that a light should be installed there if a way could be found to get one.

Wants Survey

"A lot of that is true," Cole said, "but I would like to challenge the Board of Public Works and the police department . . . to prove my point that the one at Dunn and Abeel streets is as dangerous by comparison . . . and to prove my point I am willing to give my own time and conduct my own traffic survey . . . and I'll prove which is the more important."

Storms indicated he was not arguing the importance of the condition at Dunn and Abeel street, but it was "black and white" on the police records that the Washington avenue and Pearl street intersection was the most dangerous. Aside from the reported mishaps at the corner, he said, it was found that there were many minor accidents not reported.

Cole's resolution, introduced last night asked for the restriction of parking on an area near 473 Wilbur avenue where a private road on the Cook property, which is conducted as a home, intersects Wilbur avenue. It was referred to the B.P.W. and police department.

Other resolutions were: Alderman Joseph N. Bruck, that an overhead amber blinker with directional arrows on two sides showing Route 9W be installed at Wurts and McEntee streets; Alderman David Schechter; that a railroad signal sign be installed at Hasbrouck avenue and Murray streets. The first was referred to the traffic committee and the other to the railroad and bus committee.

Comments on Taft

Allentown, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—Harold Stassen said last night that re-election of Sen. Robert A. Taft in Ohio indicates "labor leaders should go back to being labor leaders and not politicians." He also interpreted the Ohioan's success in the face of an all-out labor drive to unseat him as "a vote to halt President Truman's socialistic program." Stassen, a GOP presidential aspirant and president of the University of Pennsylvania, made the statements in answer to a reporter's question on what policy the GOP would follow after Taft's victory in Ohio. "After all, it is obvious that laboring men went ahead and voted as they pleased, regardless of their leaders," Stassen said. "The Republican Party must accept its new obligations with humility and foresight. The party must plan its future from all the Republican results across the nation."

Actress Suffers Burns

Hollywood, Nov. 10 (AP)—Former film actress Helen Chandler is in serious condition today from facial, arm and body burns suffered when she apparently fell asleep while smoking in bed. Her present husband, Merchant Seaman Walter Piasicik, shipped out a few days ago.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Stock traders showed considerable indecision on the subject of price in today's market.

A handful of issues, some affected by specific news developments took comparatively wide swings. Run-of-the-mill shares, though, moved along a narrow price route.

Gains outnumbered losses but by a modest margin. Most changes were limited to less than $1 a share.

Trading tended to the slow side although there were occasional flurries of business.

The market's placid behavior followed a week of often violent fluctuations the net result of which has been a small average gain. There was a tendency today to take time out and wait for fresh clues on which to base trading strategy.

A bit sticky were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Lockheed, General Electric, N. Y. Central, and Certain-Teed.

Gets Life Term

Bridgeton, N. J., Nov. 10 (AP)—Theodore H. Carter, Jr., 18, today was sentenced to life imprisonment for the strangle-murder of pretty Lorraine Hess. Cumberland County Judge David L. Horuvitz pronounced the sentence which was mandatory under the jury's recommendation. The girl was found strangled last May 13. Carter was convicted recently by a jury.

Minus One Detail

Man Really Was 'Choking' —His Girl Friend

Police were informed by telephone last night that a man "was choking" on an uptown street.

Officer William Hanley, who was sent to investigate, reported back to Sgt. James Cullum, that "one little detail was missing." The man, Hanley said, was "choking his girl friend."

The incident was settled without arrest.

Collazo Indicted On Murder Count

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Oscar Collazo, 37-year-old Puerto Rican, for murder in connection with the Nov. 1 attempt on President Truman's life.

The charge is based on the killing of Leslie Coffelt, 40, White House guard, when Collazo and Griselio Torresola tried to shoot their way into Blair House, the President's temporary residence.

Torresola was killed in the rain of bullets from guards which felled Collazo with wounds in the chest and shoulder.

Conviction of murder carries the possibility of a death sentence in the District of Columbia.

From the stories of eye-witnesses, there is some evidence that Torresola actually shot Coffelt. But under District of Columbia law when two or more persons engage in a felony and kill someone, all are considered equally liable to charges of murder.

Offices to Be Closed

Faulkner, Russell Given Nobel Prizes For Their Writings

Stockholm, Sweden, Nov. 10 (AP)—American Novelist William Faulkner and British Philosopher Bertrand Russell were awarded Nobel literary prizes today for 1949 and 1950.

The Swedish Academy elected Faulkner, of Oxford, Miss., as winner of the 1949 prize—withheld last fall. This year's prize was given to 78-year-old Russell, internationally famed philosopher, mathematician and moralist.

The winners were selected from among more than 50 candidates. They will receive the awards from the new Swedish King, Gustaf VI, when the Nobel Foundation celebrates its 50th anniversary Dec. 10.

This year's prize money totals 164,303 krona ($31,715), while the sum frozen last year totaled 156,229 krona ($30,007).

This was the first time two full literary prizes had been awarded simultaneously.

Fourth American Winner

Faulkner is the fourth American to win the Nobel prize for literature. Others have gone to Novelists Sinclair Lewis and Pearl S. Buck, and Playwright Eugene O'Neill. Poet T. S. Eliot, American-born but now a British citizen, also received the prize.

The literary award was not made in 1949 because of a deadlock in the academy over a choice between British statesman and historian Winston Churchill and Italian philosopher Benedetto Croce. Neither figured in the final balloting this year.

The 53-year-old Faulkner, born near Oxford, Miss., and still living there, has authored some 20 books, including the best-selling "Sanctuary," "Intruder in the Dust," "Light in August" and "Absalom, Absalom!"

Critic and public alike have acclaimed him as one of America's greatest writers, in the same rank with O'Neill and Ernest Hemingway.

Was Mathematician

Russell, three times married, twice divorced, and now the third Earl Russell, was first of all a mathematician, and later applied the mathematical approach to cold reasoning in philosophy. But his voluminous work embraces dissertations on the history of philosophy, on morals, the frontiers of knowable science and on education.

His unorthodox views have generated many an intellectual storm. Ideas, for example, that marriage should be companionate and experimental rather than binding until the arrival of children or that most university students should have temporary, trial marriages caused a New York court in 1940 to revoke the philosopher's professorship at New York City College.

Has Lead of 500 Votes

Detroit, Nov. 10 (AP)—Governor G. Mennen Williams, 39-year-old Democrat first termer, edged into a lead of more than 500 votes today as a barrage of election errors and revisions by county canvassers cut the lead of Republican Harry F. Kelly in Michigan's gubernatorial race.

No Boost in Rents In View, Boss Says

New York, Nov. 10 (AP) — State Rent Administrator Joseph D. McGoldrick yesterday knocked down reports that a general 15 per cent increase was contemplated.

He told a news conference there is "no thought" of such a hike.

McGoldrick said a report that forms had been printed for the increase was "an absolute lie."

The administrator issued a 350-page survey of rents and rental conditions in New York state.

The law requires the survey as a basis for changes in rent and eviction regulations, to be made by Dec. 1.

The changes will provide for individual adjustments in "hardship" cases.

McGoldrick said he had not reached any conclusions from the results of the survey.

Telephone Strike Has No Effect On N.Y. System

Keith S. McHugh, president of the New York Telephone Company, today made the following statement:

"From the inquiries we are receiving it seems clear that there is some confusion about telephone service in New York state.

"The fact is that no New York Telephone Company employes are on strike. New agreements have been reached with all unions representing our employes, 62,000 men and women. These agreements run for 18 months and provide for substantial wage increases.

"All local service is normal and we are completing most of our long distance calls excepting as we may find delays in completing some calls to certain points, mostly outside the state. We anticipate no difficulty in continuing to provide telephone service to our users."

nese Red troops just across the Yalu river border in Communist Manchuria was revised upward to 300,000 by the spokesman.

General MacArthur's spokesman estimated Thursday 60,000 Chinese and about that many organized North Koreans faced United Nations forces south of the Yalu in Korea.

Communist China radio broadcasts called the Chinese troops "volunteers."

The world anxiously awaited the U.N. Security Council's action on a resolution demanding that Red China withdraw its troops. The U. S., Britain and France were among the resolution's sponsors.

The U. S. State Department directed that visas be issued to nine Chinese Communist representatives en route to Lake Success for discussions of Red charges of American aggression against Formosa.

However, the U. S. asked that charges of China's intervention in the Korean conflict be taken up Friday—ahead of the Chinese delegation's arrival.

official said a cable was cut today, entirely halting telephone and teletype service for the Springfield Newspapers, Inc., and radio station KGBX.

These developments came as a union source said a federal mediation session has been called here today—for the first time since start of the nationwide strike which has idled thousands and disrupted some service.

He said a conciliator would meet with representatives of the CIO Communication Workers of America and the Western Electric Company, American Telephone and Telegraph Company subsidiary.

Catches Two in Nude, She Wants $110,000

Los Angeles, Nov. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Alice H. Moore, 36, divorced wife of jewelry fortune heir John Chandler Moore, complains that he and his hired detectives invaded her privacy and she seeks $110,000 damages.

She contended in a suit filed yesterday that Moore broke into her home in the early morning hours of July 27. Under Moore's direction, she said, a photographer snapped pictures of her and a friend, Bruce B. Pierce, in the nude.

Mrs. Moore described her 36-year-old ex-husband as a member of New York's Tiffany family. She said he deserted her a year ago. In her loneliness, she said, she turned to Pierce, a 39-year-old film studio technician who treated her with "sympathy, tenderness and affection."

Moore obtained a divorce a week ago. Despite the photographic evidence Moore produced in court, Mrs. Moore claims, she and Pierce were not guilty of misconduct. He merely lived in the house. She said she was afraid to live alone.

Uptown Store Is Burglarized, Man Enters Local Home

Local police today were investigating a burglary in an uptown sporting goods store and what appears to have been an attempted burglary on West O'Reilly street.

John Cerasaro of the Cerasaro Brothers Sports Center, 336 Clinton avenue said that the place had been entered and although it had not been definitely determined how much merchandise was missing it was known that a hunting coat, .32 calibre rifle, some shells, a hunting shirt and flashlight were taken.

Through Rear Window

Police said entrance was gained through a rear window. It was also reported that the shells taken were not the size for the rifle and that an attempt to use them in the stolen rifle might cause injury.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krum are investigating the burglary which, it is believed, took place some time during the night or early morning.

The other report at 5:40 p. m. yesterday by Officers Harry Martin and Kenneth Stratton said that A. H. Smith of 68 West O'Reilly street, reported that as he drove in his driveway, "a young man climbed out of one of the windows of the house and ran up behind the high school."

The report also said "the man claims that some time ago his house was entered and $78 was stolen." This was not reported at the time. Nothing was found missing last night.

The report also said a car operated by a woman was seen parked near the house at the time. Detective Brophy is investigating.

The $250,000 (85,000 pounds) offer was made by Harry Foster, representing the management of the Palladium, where Kaye broke all attendance records in 1949. Dukoff said he and Kaye will meet with Foster tonight, but that a decision is not likely for a week. The manager said Kaye has received another offer — $5,000 a night — from American impresario Sol Hurok for a U. S. concert tour next summer.

Cole Challenges Police, B.P.W. on Need for Light

Alderman Charles Cole, 13th Ward offered at last night's Common Council session to conduct his own traffic survey to show that the intersection at Dunn and Abeel streets is dangerous.

The alderman, after introducing an ordinance asking for restriction of parking on a Wilbur avenue area, said he had asked three years ago for a traffic light at Dunn and Abeel streets, and charged that the resolution had been "kicked around."

Alderman Benjamin A. Storms, Second ward, who is chairman of the traffic control committee, said the resolution had been referred to the B.P.W., which did not reply on the proposal.

Cole said the reply has always been that there is no money available for traffic lights. Then he asked "Where did they get the money," for the one at Pearl street and Washington avenue.

As though "out of nowhere," Cole said, came a "nice, new bright and shiny traffic light at Pearl street and Washington avenue."

Storms said it was found after study that the uptown intersection "was the scene of many serious and several minor accidents." The resolution was referred to his committee which decided that a light should be installed there if a way could be found to get one.

Wants Survey

"A lot of that is true," Cole said, "but I would like to challenge the Board of Public Works and the police department . . . to prove my point that the one at Dunn and Abeel streets is as dangerous by comparison . . . and to prove my point I am willing to give my own time and conduct my own traffic survey . . . and I'll prove which is the more important."

Storms indicated he was not arguing the importance of the condition at Dunn and Abeel street, but it was "black and white" on the police records that the Washington avenue and Pearl street intersection was the most dangerous. Aside from the reported mishaps at the corner, he said, it was found that there were many minor accidents not reported.

Cole's resolution, introduced last night asked for the restriction of parking on an area near 473 Wilbur avenue where a private road on the Cook property, which is conducted as a home, intersects Wilbur avenue. It was referred to the B.P.W. and police department.

Other resolutions were: Alderman Joseph N. Bruck, that an overhead amber blinker with directional arrows on two sides showing Route 9W be installed at Wurts and McEntee streets; Alderman David Schechter; that a railroad signal sign be installed at Hasbrouck avenue and Murray streets. The first was referred to the traffic committee and the other to the railroad and bus committee.

Comments on Taft

Allentown, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—Harold Stassen said last night that re-election of Sen. Robert A. Taft in Ohio indicates "labor leaders should go back to being labor leaders and not politicians." He also interpreted the Ohioan's success in the face of an all-out labor drive to unseat him as "a vote to halt President Truman's socialistic program." Stassen, a GOP presidential aspirant and president of the University of Pennsylvania, made the statements in answer to a reporter's question on what policy the GOP would follow after Taft's victory in Ohio. "After all, it is obvious that laboring men went ahead and voted as they pleased, regardless of their leaders," Stassen said. "The Republican Party must accept its new obligations with humility and foresight. The party must plan its future from all the Republican results across the nation."

Her present husband, Merchant Seaman Walter Piasicik, shipped out a few days ago.

Bridgeton, N. J., Nov. 10 (AP)—Theodore H. Carter, Jr., 18, today was sentenced to life imprisonment for the strangle-murder of pretty Lorraine Hess. Cumberland County Judge David L. Horuvitz pronounced the sentence which was mandatory under the jury's recommendation. The girl was found strangled last May 13. Carter was convicted recently by a jury.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Stock traders showed considerable indecision on the subject of price in today's market.

A handful of issues, some affected by specific news developments took comparatively wide swings. Run-of-the-mill shares, though, moved along a narrow price route.

Gains outnumbered losses but by a modest margin. Most changes were limited to less than $1 a share.

Trading tended to the slow side although there were occasional flurries of business.

The market's placid behavior followed a week of often violent fluctuations the net result of which has been a small average gain. There was a tendency today to take time out and wait for fresh clues on which to base trading strategy.

A bit sticky were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Lockheed, General Electric, N. Y. Central, and Certain-Teed.

Minus One Detail

Man Really Was 'Choking' —His Girl Friend

Police were informed by telephone last night that a man "was choking" on an uptown street.

Officer William Hanley, who was sent to investigate, reported back to Sgt. James Cullum, that "one little detail was missing." The man, Hanley said, was "choking his girl friend."

The incident was settled without arrest.

Collazo Indicted On Murder Count

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Oscar Collazo, 37-year-old Puerto Rican, for murder in connection with the Nov. 1 attempt on President Truman's life.

The charge is based on the killing of Leslie Coffelt, 40, White House guard, when Collazo and Griselio Torresola tried to shoot their way into Blair House, the President's temporary residence.

Torresola was killed in the rain of bullets from guards which felled Collazo with wounds in the chest and shoulder.

Conviction of murder carries the possibility of a death sentence in the District of Columbia.

From the stories of eye-witnesses, there is some evidence that Torresola actually shot Coffelt. But under District of Columbia law when two or more persons engage in a felony and kill someone, all are considered equally liable to charges of murder.

Local Druggists Support Campaign To Cut Accidents

Local druggists are giving strong support to a nationwide campaign, now underway, aimed at reducing the accident toll and at educating the public to deal intelligently with injuries of all types when they occur, according to T. V. McShane, National Safety Council representative.

More than 10,000,000 people are the victims of fatal or disabling accidents in this country each year, Mr. McShane states. He pointed out that every three seconds an accident happens to someone! Additional millions suffer minor injuries which are not reported because, though painful and potentially serious, they are neither fatal nor disabling. Many of this latter type are suffered in the victims' own homes.

Under the slogan, "Emergencies Don't Wait," the nationwide campaign is aimed particularly at reducing the number of home accidents and at minimizing their consequences. The exact number of home accidents cannot be determined, but an indication that they run into astronomical figures is provided by the fact that the number of temporarily or permanently disabling home accidents is approximately 5,000,000 each year. In other words, home accidents account for about one-half the annual, reported accident toll.

While any serious home accident injury calls for the immediate attention of a physician, Mr. McShane points out that every housewife can minimize the potentially serious consequences of injuries if her home is equipped with the materials required for the application of first aid while waiting the physician's call.

Kingston High School Plant

With the opening of the new Vocational Building in September, Kingston can point with pride to one of the most up-to-date high school plants in the Hudson valley, although certain inadequacies remain to be overcome in the original, 35-year-old high school building itself.

With its recently completed addition, the Vocational Building houses the electric, woodworking, metal, auto and needle trades shops, all of which have the newest equipment available. The agricultural courses are also taught in this building.

A new chemistry laboratory with dark room, sound-proofed rooms for band and orchestra and the ultra-modern homemaking rooms are now located in the new building as well as two class rooms for social studies and English. The rooms are fitted with moveable desks and the latest type of green blackboards. Fluorescent lighting to relieve eye strain is standard equipment in all rooms.

Much work has been carried on during the summer and early fall to enlarge and improve the grounds around the high school. Extensive areas of lime rock outcroppings were blasted away to provide adequate hard-surfaced parking space for busses which transport the students from outlying areas. At the same time, the playing field at the rear of the school, which is used for outdoor gym work and intramural sports, was enlarged, drained and regraded.

The library is well designed to meet the needs of the high school population. Books are selected with care and foresight and offer material to the students in whatever field of endeavor they may be called upon to do additional reading and research. An up-to-the-minute clipping file also provides the latest material on recent developments in all fields related to the high school courses.

In spite of the astounding progress that has been made during the past decade in meeting the needs of the student population, certain inadequacies still remain. These are especially noticeable in the cafeteria and gymnasium, which have remained largely unchanged since constructed 35 years ago.

Since the cafeteria has seats for only 132 boys and 98 girls, many have to eat their lunches in the corridors or locker rooms.

The physical education program is badly handicapped, since the gymnasium can adequately accommodate only about one-half of the student body. Because of this situation, the State Department of Education has granted the school a special concession for giving physical education only to the freshmen and sophomores.

To accommodate the sharp increase in student enrollment which resulted from transferring the ninth grade from the Myron J. Michael School to Kingston High School this fall, special arrangements had to be made in programming.

As a result, the school abolished the noon-time home room periods and runs a continuous program of eight periods. Each student and teacher is allowed one period of 40 minutes between 11:10 and 1:25 o'clock in which to eat. Short schedules were also arranged for approximately 500 resident students who leave the building at the conclusion of their classes, one or two periods early. Many of these short schedule students utilize this additional time for part-time work.

Class room equipment is in good condition and each year an increasing number of rooms are being fitted with modern moveable desks and dark shades to permit the use of slides and motion pictures in instructing classes. Through the public address system, classes can also listen in to speeches and such public ceremonies as would be of educational value.

Both the vocational and the high school buildings present a well-cared for appearance which bears testimony to the care of the maintenance force and the unflagging interest of the school administrators in the well being of the high school youth.

F.T.C. Is Upheld

Baltimore, Nov. 10 (AP)—A federal appeals court has upheld the Federal Trade Commission in ordering the Bristol-Myers Company to stop advertising Ipana toothpaste as a preventive of "pink toothbrush." The Fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday also sustained FTC directives barring the company from: (1) claiming that twice as many dentists personally use Ipana over any other dentrifice and that more dentists recommend Ipana for patients than any other two dentrifices combined, and (2) claiming that Ipana promotes healthy gums. The three judges agreed with the FTC that the endorsement survey of dentists on which the company based its claims covered only a fraction of the country's dentists.

375 Boy Scouts Are Going to Academy For Celebration

Rip Van Winkle Council will send 375 Boy Scouts and leaders to West Point Saturday to participate in the military academy's annual celebration of Boy Scout Day.

The local delegation, which represents 22 units in Ulster and Greene counties, is the largest ever sent by this council to West Point since the annual trip was instituted, it was announced by Walter T. Tremper of Kingston, chairman of the council's camping and activities committee.

Local scouts will join with nearly 1,600 other scouts from New York and New Jersey in a program which begins at 8:30 a. m. Cadets serve as guides to scout parties in the morning, showing the boys through the entire academy with its historic buildings, shrines, cadet barracks and the cadet mess hall.

The boys will eat their box lunches on the North Athletic Field, after which they will be honored with a full dress cadet review.

High spot of the day will be the Army-New Mexico football game. Elaborate ceremonies have been planned to take place at the review and between the halves of the game.

The staff of "The Pointer," cadet magazine, has prepared a special issue of that publication for the scouts.

Major General Bryant E. Moore, superintendent of the academy, will welcome the scouts to the Point.

Kingston troops that will be represented include Troops 1, 2, 6, 9, 11 and 12. Other council troops to be represented include troops from Hurley, Centerville, Saugerties, Malden, Glasco, Quarryville, Athens, Cairo, Windham, Maplecrest, Highland, West Shokan, Wiltwyck School, New Paltz and Explorer Post 130 of Saugerties.

To Deliver Saturday

The regular delivery of mail will be made by carriers in Kingston Saturday, Armistice Day, Postmaster William R. Kraft today announced. All windows will be closed throughout the day but the lobbies will remain open until 2 p. m. for the convenience of box holders. It also was announced that there will be no delivery of mail on rural routes. Regular collections will be made for street letter boxes.

BABSON on BUSINESS

BABSON DISCUSSES DRUG STOCKS

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 10—In view of a report in The Commercial and Financial Chronicle, America's leading business weekly, that I have recently been putting my hard-earned pennies in a certain drug stock, many inquiries have come to me asking the reasons. Hence, this week let me give ten reasons therefor.

(1) Drug stocks fare well both in times of peace and war. In these uncertain days, when our country is "betwixt and between," the wise investor will not gamble on either peace or war. He will invest his savings in an industry which will be safe in either case.

(2) Some great new discoveries which may protect our families against polio, arthritis, and perhaps cancer are "on the way." As these come along drug stocks should boom as television and electronic stocks boomed last year.

(3) The chemists and pharmacists of drug companies are given especial consideration in connection with labor laws and perhaps the draft itself. They are recognized as important workers and entitled to such exemptions from rules and regulations as are possible to give.

(4) Drug stores are permitted by law to be open any number of hours per day and seven days a week including Sundays and holidays. As the modern stores have lunch counters, this long opening period is a public convenience as well as necessity.

(5) Drug stores usually have the choicest locations in a city—at corners, or adjoining bus stations or at otherwise frequented localities. Instead of owning the property, they rent so as to be able to move as the trading areas of the city change.

(6) Drug companies are constantly increasing their lines of merchandise which is no longer limited to sick-room needs. From electric heating pads and gadgets for warming baby's milk, modern drug stores now carry most all home electric appliances and—in addition—an unlimited variety of household supplies.

(7) The public likes to buy at drug stores whatever these stores carry, both on account of the higher quality of the merchandise and the intelligence of the sales clerks. For several reasons the drug industry insists upon higher standards for their employes than any other group.

(8) Earnings of drug stocks are now temporarily depressed due to the industry's overexpansion during the past five years and the need of new capital to pay therefor. This fact should now make such stocks more attractive to the wise investor than other stocks which are, at the moment, very popular.

(9) Drug companies, like other good merchandising corporations are especially good hedges against inflation. The capital of such companies is almost wholly invested in commodities which rise in price as the purchasing power of the dollar increases.

(10) There is also another personal reason for my investing in drug stocks. I have been most successful when investing in stocks of companies which are saving life or property and thus performing a national service. Certainly, the drug industry is both saving lives and improving the health and happiness of every community.

I even look forward to the time when humanely-minded persons who now seek positions in social service, or in educational fields, or even in church work will see the great opportunity for helping others by serving in a high grade drug laboratory or store. When this time comes it should give the industry a very high standing which should result in a much greater volume of sales at a larger margin of profit.

Just a word regarding merchandise stocks in general. I believe that most "store stocks" are preferable to "manufacturing stocks." I hope to see the Dow-Jones Industrial Averages divided between these two groups. Investors will be greatly surprised when this is done. Finally—for several reasons—I prefer the "chains" to the large department stores—whether they are drug chains or variety chains or shoe chains. Moreover, chains which sell to women have better records than chains which sell only to men.

Class room equipment is in good condition and each year an increasing number of rooms are being fitted with modern moveable desks and dark shades to permit the use of slides and motion pictures in instructing classes. Through the public address system, classes can also listen in to speeches and such public ceremonies as would be of educational value.

Both the vocational and the high school buildings present a well-cared for appearance which bears testimony to the care of the maintenance force and the unflagging interest of the school administrators in the well being of the high school youth.

F.T.C. Is Upheld

Baltimore, Nov. 10 (AP)—A federal appeals court has upheld the Federal Trade Commission in ordering the Bristol-Myers Company to stop advertising Ipana toothpaste as a preventive of "pink toothbrush." The Fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday also sustained FTC directives barring the company from: (1) claiming that twice as many dentists personally use Ipana over any other dentrifice and that more dentists recommend Ipana for patients than any other two dentrifices combined, and (2) claiming that Ipana promotes healthy gums. The three judges agreed with the FTC that the endorsement survey of dentists on which the company based its claims covered only a fraction of the country's dentists.

375 Boy Scouts Are Going to Academy For Celebration

Rip Van Winkle Council will send 375 Boy Scouts and leaders to West Point Saturday to participate in the military academy's annual celebration of Boy Scout Day.

The local delegation, which represents 22 units in Ulster and Greene counties, is the largest ever sent by this council to West Point since the annual trip was instituted, it was announced by Walter T. Tremper of Kingston, chairman of the council's camping and activities committee.

Local scouts will join with nearly 1,600 other scouts from New York and New Jersey in a program which begins at 8:30 a. m. Cadets serve as guides to scout parties in the morning, showing the boys through the entire academy with its historic buildings, shrines, cadet barracks and the cadet mess hall.

The boys will eat their box lunches on the North Athletic Field, after which they will be honored with a full dress cadet review.

High spot of the day will be the Army-New Mexico football game. Elaborate ceremonies have been planned to take place at the review and between the halves of the game.

The staff of "The Pointer," cadet magazine, has prepared a special issue of that publication for the scouts.

Major General Bryant E. Moore, superintendent of the academy, will welcome the scouts to the Point.

Kingston troops that will be represented include Troops 1, 2, 6, 9, 11 and 12. Other council troops to be represented include troops from Hurley, Centerville, Saugerties, Malden, Glasco, Quarryville, Athens, Cairo, Windham, Maplecrest, Highland, West Shokan, Wiltwyck School, New Paltz and Explorer Post 130 of Saugerties.

To Deliver Saturday

The regular delivery of mail will be made by carriers in Kingston Saturday, Armistice Day, Postmaster William R. Kraft today announced. All windows will be closed throughout the day but the lobbies will remain open until 2 p. m. for the convenience of box holders. It also was announced that there will be no delivery of mail on rural routes. Regular collections will be made for street letter boxes.

BABSON on BUSINESS

BABSON DISCUSSES DRUG STOCKS

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 10—In view of a report in The Commercial and Financial Chronicle, America's leading business weekly, that I have recently been putting my hard-earned pennies in a certain drug stock, many inquiries have come to me asking the reasons. Hence, this week let me give ten reasons therefor.

(1) Drug stocks fare well both in times of peace and war. In these uncertain days, when our country is "betwixt and between," the wise investor will not gamble on either peace or war. He will invest his savings in an industry which will be safe in either case.

(2) Some great new discoveries which may protect our families against polio, arthritis, and perhaps cancer are "on the way." As these come along drug stocks should boom as television and electronic stocks boomed last year.

(3) The chemists and pharmacists of drug companies are given especial consideration in connection with labor laws and perhaps the draft itself. They are recognized as important workers and entitled to such exemptions from rules and regulations as are possible to give.

(4) Drug stores are permitted by law to be open any number of hours per day and seven days a week including Sundays and holidays. As the modern stores have lunch counters, this long opening period is a public convenience as well as necessity.

(5) Drug stores usually have the choicest locations in a city—at corners, or adjoining bus stations or at otherwise frequented localities. Instead of owning the property, they rent so as to be able to move as the trading areas of the city change.

(6) Drug companies are constantly increasing their lines of merchandise which is no longer limited to sick-room needs. From electric heating pads and gadgets for warming baby's milk, modern drug stores now carry most all home electric appliances and—in addition—an unlimited variety of household supplies.

(7) The public likes to buy at drug stores whatever these stores carry, both on account of the higher quality of the merchandise and the intelligence of the sales clerks. For several reasons the drug industry insists upon higher standards for their employes than any other group.

(8) Earnings of drug stocks are now temporarily depressed due to the industry's overexpansion during the past five years and the need of new capital to pay therefor. This fact should now make such stocks more attractive to the wise investor than other stocks which are, at the moment, very popular.

(9) Drug companies, like other good merchandising corporations are especially good hedges against inflation. The capital of such companies is almost wholly invested in commodities which rise in price as the purchasing power of the dollar increases.

(10) There is also another personal reason for my investing in drug stocks. I have been most successful when investing in stocks of companies which are saving life or property and thus performing a national service. Certainly, the drug industry is both saving lives and improving the health and happiness of every community.

I even look forward to the time when humanely-minded persons who now seek positions in social service, or in educational fields, or even in church work will see the great opportunity for helping others by serving in a high grade drug laboratory or store. When this time comes it should give the industry a very high standing which should result in a much greater volume of sales at a larger margin of profit.

Just a word regarding merchandise stocks in general. I believe that most "store stocks" are preferable to "manufacturing stocks." I hope to see the Dow-Jones Industrial Averages divided between these two groups. Investors will be greatly surprised when this is done. Finally—for several reasons—I prefer the "chains" to the large department stores—whether they are drug chains or variety chains or shoe chains. Moreover, chains which sell to women have better records than chains which sell only to men.

MORE BALKY CONGRESS

The Democratic Party has retained control of Congress, but hardly by what could be regarded as a working majority. Moreover the chief party spokesmen in the Senate have been defeated. The Senate floor leader, Scott Lucas of Illinois, and the Senate whip, Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, were victims of the Republican gains. This naturally is interpreted as a rebuke to administration leadership in Congress.

With the loss in strength in both houses and this special blow in the Senate, the administration can expect the next Congress to be even less responsive than the present one. President Truman has not enjoyed much success in winning specific legislative objectives in the Eighty-first Congress, despite the presumption that the Democratic majority rode in on his coat-tails. He is bound to find it still more difficult to influence the new Congress.

It was predicted that the independent voters would decide most of the critical contests. A good many of the Congressional victors will now have occasion to declare that this was so, and to assume an air of independence for themselves. The party in power apparently has kept just enough to be held responsible for what Congress does, but not enough to have the decisive word about it.

RED CHINA'S ENTRY INTO WAR

With the entry into the Korean fighting of a fresh army of "alien Communist forces" as General MacArthur referred to the Chinese Communists, even the UN commander-in-chief apparently realizes that he spoke too soon when he said that the Korean war would be over soon. Pushed back almost to the Manchurian border, the North Koreans rallied and went over to the offensive.

Probably they could not have achieved this turnabout on their own. They did it through reinforcements by an undetermined number of Chinese Communist troops and the receipt of new Soviet weapons, including self-propelled guns, rockets, tanks and even jet fighter planes.

This counter-effort hardly classifies as full-scale intervention by the Chinese Reds. If that had been the Communist aim, it would have made much more sense to have joined the battle long before the United Nations forces were near Manchuria.

Stalin seems to have settled upon limited intervention instead. Why?

Military observers are making much of the fact that large hydro-electric developments important to the Manchurian economy lie on the Korean side of the border. They believe the Chinese may be bent primarily on keeping control of these facilities.

Others put more stress upon strictly military and political factors. They see the Red rally as an effort, for one thing, to pin down UN forces through the bitter Korean winter, so they can't be freed for rest and possible duty in other critical sectors of the world.

Furthermore, it's felt this attempt to keep the border areas in Red hands may be linked directly with a Russian desire to promote prolonged guerrilla warfare in Korea. The success of guerrilla fighting in Greece was due largely to the fact that the rebels could mount their offensives from the territory of surrounding Red nations. Once Yugoslavia, the chief helper, closed its border, the Greek guerrillas did not last long.

There's also the view that this Korean "Battle of the Bulge" may help Communists generally to salvage some of the "face" they have lost through the series of defeats inflicted by UN forces since the Inchon landing.

It is too early to tell how effective Stalin's limited intervention will prove. Already it has made real trouble for our forces. A battalion of the American First Cavalry Division had to be abandoned in a Red trap.

One thing is certain: The Reds can't recapture the bulk of North Korea and liberate South Korea without committing many more Chinese troops than are now engaged. To do that would be to risk World War III. Unless Russia is ready for another global conflict—and no expert thinks she is—the risk isn't likely to be taken.

Meantime, China's Red regime, by joining in the Korean war, has given one more convincing argument why it should not be admitted to the United Nations. Indeed, off their showing in Tibet and Korea, one can only conclude the Chinese Communists don't want to be admitted.

ELECTION TELEVISION

This election has produced a startling new technique in electioneering. It was introduced by Thomas E. Dewey. Dewey on Monday before Election Day took time, over a period of 18 hours, on one television network blanketing the entire state of New York.

This technique involved sending out teams to pick up questions from the man on the street to be answered by the candidate; to accept questions over the telephone to be answered immediately. All this was shown on television. Also, every statement made by the opposing candidate was immediately answered. Charts, photographs, documents, letters, even newspaper clippings and headlines were exhibited to the television audience. And everybody in his entourage, including Mrs. Dewey, got into the act.

No prepared speeches were read; the candidate talking as he went along, jumping from one subject to another.

I watched it for some time and realized that once television reached maturity, this type of campaigning will be utilized by most candidates and that it will have a tremendous political effect.

Radio has in a measure confused the people. The speaker cannot be seen. He might be talking with his tongue in his cheek or laughing up his sleeve. If he possesses a good listening voice, such as was the gift of Franklin D. Roosevelt, his audience will like him. He reads a prepared document from which he dare not depart lest he lose his timing.

On television, every grimace of his face, every wrinkle on his brow is visible. A candidate would have to be a great actor to succeed in fooling the people on television, where his personality is vividly exposed. I do not blame some of the candidates who in this campaign ducked television appearances, particularly joint appearances where comparisons could be made.

At one stage of this television show, Dewey's opponent, Walter A. Lynch, had in another studio of the same network made statements to which Dewey objected. Dewey immediately sent his secretary and newspapermen to invite Lynch to his television show to debate the charges Lynch had made. Lynch declined in annoyance and walked out. Dewey told the story, with the fire of contempt, over television shortly after it happened. It was the unrestrained anger of a man in his own home.

Television can undo the harm of the radio voice. It is no secret that in the 1944 campaign, on the famous occasion when Franklin D. Roosevelt sat in an open car through a parade during a constant downpour of rain to prove that he was not a dying man—as was reported—he had evidently too much to drink.

That night when he spoke at the Waldorf-Astoria, he was not altogether sober. I personally checked every detail of that occasion and there has never been any doubt in my mind that, chilled to the bone, he had taken too many double martinis and was affected by them, so that he giggled and his tongue slipped, and there were other signs of inadequate control of the motor nerves.

Yet, his radio voice was glorious that night and the slips were generally attributed to techniques, except by those who were there.

On television that would have been impossible. The television audience would have been shocked by his conduct. He might even have lost the election and this nation would have been spared the Yalta conference and his sudden death in office with its consequences. Television at that moment would have been like an X-ray of his personality.

Radio has aided mediocre personalities who possess a voice and a manner; television can bring the candidate back to the people where they can study his face, his personality in sharp outline. The close-up is something that the faker will dread.

Of course, producers will work out techniques for hiding blemishes, but most of them will fail. For the lights that shine so brightly to make television possible at all, force the speaker to be himself. The psychology of it is that he feels that light; he cannot hide from it. Whenever I have been on television, I have felt that light burn inside me like a strong emotion. Professional actors speak of the lights; the amateur cannot withstand them. Those who fear, will avoid them.

It will be interesting to watch the development of this new technique and its political consequences.

That Body of Yours

MENIERE'S DISEASE

I write frequently about Meniere's disease—partial loss of hearing, head noises, dizziness, and sometimes vomiting—because so many are afflicted with it and because in so many cases simple methods of treatment give relief. Great relief is obtained by cutting down on all liquids, as too much water in the tissues in and adjoining the ear upsets the balancing canals in the ear and dizziness, head noises, and vomiting result. Relief is obtained as well by use of nicotinic acid and histamine, and blowing out the eustachian tubes which carry the air from back of throat to middle ear, creating air pressure against the inner side of the eardrum to balance the air pressing against the outer side.

Some months ago, Dr. G. Selfridge, in Archives of Ear and Throat, Chicago, in naming the various conditions causing Meniere's disease mentioned deficiencies of vitamins, especially vitamin B. It is, therefore, of interest to learn more about vitamin B from another authoritative source.

In Archives of Ear and Throat Dr. M. Atkinson states that, while all the methods of treatment mentioned above undoubtedly give some relief, the general physical condition of the patient with Meniere's disease may not be improved. While these methods improved the hearing and gave relief from noises and dizziness, they do not improve the general nervous condition or improve the structure of the nerve cells themselves.

The general nervous symptoms due to lack of vitamin B and its substances (vitamin B complex) are described. This lack of vitamin B complex affects the following body systems: the nervous system, eyes, stomach and intestines, locomotion (movement of legs and arms), heart and blood vessels, and the skin and mucous membranes (linings of various organs). Dr. Atkinson lists the symptoms pointing to specific lack of nicotonic acid, riboflavin and thiamine. He gives the history of two patients to show the degree of chronic deficiency, and consequent ill health, from which many patients suffer in addition to their near disturbance.

Food rich in Vitamin B complex are: yeast, wheat germ, malted milk, beef, beef liver, ham, bacon, whole wheat bread.

Let the Cobbler Stick to His Last

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—President Truman and top advisers are about to uncork a pretty stiff bottle of defense medicine for the American people. It involves an unprecedented technique for arming America without putting the country into a complete economic strait jacket.

The program has been decided at a series of ultrasecret meetings of Stuart Symington's National Security Resources Board, now charged with over-all responsibility for war preparedness. Here's what it involves:

1. More Money — Truman will ask Congress for an additional $19,000,000,000 in the next 30 days, bringing the budget up to $54,000,000,000 for defense alone.

2. Few Controls — Price and wage controls will be delayed as long as possible, probably until next spring on all but a few short materials. These include steel and aluminum. Meanwhile, Symington is personally cracking the whip on both labor and management to keep prices down.

Note—The Ford Motor Company immediately accepted Symington's suggestion that it not increase prices. Symington also arranged secretly for Truman to call CIO President Philip Murray and soft-pedal the steelworkers' demands for a wage hike; so a new round of steel price boosts would be prevented.

3. More Factories—Truman advisers are convinced that a wartime preparedness program can be built right alongside our peacetime economy without pinching the American people too sharply, chiefly by plant expansion.

4. Heavy Taxes—The administration plans to control inflation by an almost ruthless tax program plus vigorous credit controls. The Treasury Department headed by timid Secretary John Snyder is dragging its feet on this, but the Federal Reserve Board, plus Symington and the President's economic advisers, are now urging a 10 per cent excess-profits tax as well as sharply increased corporate taxes to finance defense on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Prize Bureaucrat

Symington fully expects to wind up being the nation's most unpopular bureaucrat, and a phone call he got the other day from Speaker Sam Rayburn in Bonham, Texas, indicates that he is on the way. Sam was complaining about the new credit controls.

"Last month," said the speaker, "200 cars were sold down here in Bonham. This month, thanks to credit controls, the number sold was only five."

"How big is Bonham?" Symington asked.

"Eight thousand, five hundred," replied the speaker.

"Well, 200 cars a month is too many for a city of that size," argued Symington.

He went on to explain, however, that he did not want to cut auto sales to zero, only wanted to strike a happy medium. And he is genuinely concerned lest credit controls mop up surplus cash too fast. He doesn't want to drive the country into a recession by curtailing buying power before spending takes up the slack, and estimates that the main defense spending will be felt shortly after Christmas.

More Steel Mills

Most important part of the new plan is for large-scale building of new factories, following which defense spending and peacetime economy can continue side by side. To that end there will be a 25 per cent increase in steel production, a doubling of aluminum production, and a big increase in electric-power capacity.

Prior to Pearl Harbor, a committee of experts headed by Gano Dunn of the J. G. White Engineering Co. recommended against any increase in steel production. It feared idle blast furnaces after the war.

As a result of this recommendation the ensuing steel shortage forced the American public to forego automobiles, refrigerators and other steel products during the war. And, since the war, instead of having idle blast furnaces, the steel industry has been running at full capacity, with U. S. Steel earning the highest profits in history.

With the world's population rapidly increasing, Symington predicts the same thing will happen again.

Note—Real father of the new program is Leon Keyserling, head of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. He feels that the U.S.A. cannot be turned into an economic dictatorship by too many controls, too much bureaucracy. Sufficient plant expansion to handle both civilian needs and war needs, he says, is the alternative.

Silent Filibuster

Nevada's Republican Senator George W. Malone, darling of the slot-machine racketeers and the copper trust, set quite a record for himself when he hogged nearly 61 pages of the 163-page appendix of the October 20 Congressional Record.

Malone inserted 47 items totaling 1,687½ column inches, for a total of 60.8 pages, 37 per cent of the total. At a printing cost of $82 per page, the Nevadan spent $498.56 of the taxpayers' money to make a wide variety of insertions. The longest, titled "Copper, a Symbol," ate up 14½ pages; the shortest, his own statement asserting that Dean Acheson (secretary of state) is trying to oust General MacArthur, consumed 4½ column inches.

Business Seems to Have Gained Much Heart as Result of Elections in Nation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 10—Business men throughout the country, judging from reports received here, are tremendously heartened by the election.

Many of them feel that the election was the most critical in a generation and that the effect of it will be to make it possible to do business planning with more confidence.

The reason, of course, is that the trend toward the socialistic state has been growing since 1933 and not even the election of 1946 showed any clear indication that the people were aware of trends.

In the campaign just closed, however, these issues were made clear. The "Fair Deal" was not treated as an entity but specific parts of it came under severe attack. So far as business is concerned, it regards the check applied to labor-union politicians to be the most encouraging aspect of the whole election.

Business men today are satisfied with an evenly balanced labor-management law and they would not object seriously to many of the amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act which were passed by the Senate but blocked in the House. What aroused genuine alarm was the effort on the part of the unions to form political organizations to elect members of Congress who would do their bidding.

In state after state the Republican nominees carried industrial districts where there is a large labor vote. Such areas as, for example, Cuyahoga county, which includes Cleveland, have rarely been carried by the Republicans. It has a large labor vote. But Senator Taft carried it this year by 22,000.

From other states, too, comes the story of how labor-union members, resenting dictation by their officers, voted their party preferences on the basis of issues other than labor-union politics.

This is the kind of news that business men have wishfully hoped for in the past, but today they see it plainly in the statistics. It means that the American electorate does react to argument and debate, and to an explanation of the issues by the candidates.

What such an election can mean to American enterprise in future years cannot be exaggerated. After the successive victories of the New Deal and then the Truman election in 1948, business men began to feel that America was drifting to the "left" and toward a socialistic government such as Great Britain has today. The election this week is construed as a definite turning of the tide.

Undoubtedly many Democrats contributed to the result. In state after state, the victories are saying that independent Democrats helped them offset the heavy labor-union vote or the pressure of organized machines. This is exactly the way the two-party system has often functioned in decades gone by. The lesson learned in the 1948 election was applied in last Tuesday's election—the Republicans did an intensive job in the precincts and got out their vote.

From all over the country comes the same story. The Republican organizations of men and women did not depend on forecasts or take anything for granted. They canvassed the citizens and in most instances found them already alert to the necessity of voting. Many a candidate says that the same attitude, if manifested in 1948, would have told a different story in the electoral vote column then.

Likewise, the campaign stirred up more interest than is customary in an election that occurs in the middle of a presidential term. This may or may not have been due to the increased attention given the political contests by the press as well as by the radio and television. But it was due to no small extent to the fact that this congressional compaign actually began as far back as a year ago. Certainly Senator Taft began campaigning then, and so did the opposition forces.

One thing seems clear—campaigns are getting longer and longer and hence are exciting much more interest on the part of those who do vote. While the total who voted was not as high percentagewise as in other years, when the figures are all in, it may be found that a higher per cent of those who were registered went to the polls than in a presidential election year.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Several rarefied intellects who joined the propaganda machine called the Society for the Prevention of World War 3 have been surprised to hear that the Siamese Twin of this bulldozing force, the non-sectarian anti-Nazi League, employs professional sneaks to spy on American citizens and organizations.

Both the society and the league are political and personal projects of Isidore Lipschutz, a rich diamond merchant from Belgium. The Buchanan committee of the House of Representatives is afraid of the society, the league and Lipschutz. Buchanan hounded a number of pro-American, anti-Communist propagandists and societies including one outstanding advocate of constitutional government. But the society, the league and Lipschutz were not even mentioned.

In the testimony of Dorothy Waring, published in the report of a special House committee to investigate the Federal Communications Commission, 78th Congress, first session, 1943, she identified herself as "director of investigation of the anti-Nazi League." Waring is an assumed name. Eugene Garey of New York, counsel for the committee, conducted the examinations.

Miss Waring told Garey that Mario Buzzi was employed by the league as an investigator and did not deny that he was an "undercover man" but merely objected to the term. Buzzi was then ducking a committee subpoena. He was exactly that. He recently showed an inside familiarity with the Society for the Prevention of World War III, as well. Miss Waring said he was known also as Nino Bossi.

She said, "My business is determining the practices of people, who have been reported to us, or that we have been queried about, as being either engaged in subversive activities, or un-American activities, or doing anything which may, in any way, hamper the war effort."

Lipschutz himself, the arbiter of correct "Americanism," had a very hard time obtaining American citizenship. The government objected to him on charges of moral turpitude.

James H. Sheldon, "administrative secretary" of the league, testified that it investigated persons whom it suspected of pro-Nazi activities. He said the league maintained a "small staff" of investigators who accumulated "information." It had a "considerable amount of material collected with respect to various people in the United States."

"The league's field of endeavor has been primarily concerned with propaganda in the twilight zone between seditious activities and violations of the espionage act, on the one hand, and good Americanism on the other," he said. "Our investigating department has been able to secure the services of one or two people who had had governmental experience with the McCormack investigating activities. I am referring particularly to Miss Waring."

The "McCormack activities" were actually conducted by Congressman Sam Dickstein, of New York, now a judge. A snoop, known as Richard Rollins, was Dickstein's investigator. Rollins served as an army "investigator" in the United States during the war, mostly in Boston, where he had established his home and had made political connections. He investigated "subversive" activities along the docks and somehow became an enforcement agent

A Railroad Train Collided With a Ship!

Early one morning in December, 1948, an Atlantic Coast Line passenger train named the "Everglade" was running south of Charleston, S. C. Suddenly as it rolled onto the trestle over the Ashley River at Drayton Hall, S. C., the engineer saw ahead of him through the early morning haze the bow of a large ship overhanging his track. Before he could raise a finger, they crashed. The ship was thrown off the railroad, but not until it had cut the locomotive's "nose." Fortunately, no one was injured. The train proceeded after a half-hour delay, but the unmanned wanderer—a 175-foot deactivated Landing Craft Infantry that had broken its moorings and drifted 300 feet upstream until it nosed into the cross beams of the trestle—was tied up securely for being "off limits!"

MORE BALKY CONGRESS

The Democratic Party has retained control of Congress, but hardly by what could be regarded as a working majority. Moreover the chief party spokesmen in the Senate have been defeated. The Senate floor leader, Scott Lucas of Illinois, and the Senate whip, Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, were victims of the Republican gains. This naturally is interpreted as a rebuke to administration leadership in Congress.

With the loss in strength in both houses and this special blow in the Senate, the administration can expect the next Congress to be even less responsive than the present one. President Truman has not enjoyed much success in winning specific legislative objectives in the Eighty-first Congress, despite the presumption that the Democratic majority rode in on his coat-tails. He is bound to find it still more difficult to influence the new Congress.

It was predicted that the independent voters would decide most of the critical contests. A good many of the Congressional victors will now have occasion to declare that this was so, and to assume an air of independence for themselves. The party in power apparently has kept just enough to be held responsible for what Congress does, but not enough to have the decisive word about it.

RED CHINA'S ENTRY INTO WAR

With the entry into the Korean fighting of a fresh army of "alien Communist forces" as General MacArthur referred to the Chinese Communists, even the UN commander-in-chief apparently realizes that he spoke too soon when he said that the Korean war would be over soon. Pushed back almost to the Manchurian border, the North Koreans rallied and went over to the offensive.

Probably they could not have achieved this turnabout on their own. They did it through reinforcements by an undetermined number of Chinese Communist troops and the receipt of new Soviet weapons, including self-propelled guns, rockets, tanks and even jet fighter planes.

This counter-effort hardly classifies as full-scale intervention by the Chinese Reds. If that had been the Communist aim, it would have made much more sense to have joined the battle long before the United Nations forces were near Manchuria.

Stalin seems to have settled upon limited intervention instead. Why?

Military observers are making much of the fact that large hydro-electric developments important to the Manchurian economy lie on the Korean side of the border. They believe the Chinese may be bent primarily on keeping control of these facilities.

Others put more stress upon strictly military and political factors. They see the Red rally as an effort, for one thing, to pin down UN forces through the bitter Korean winter, so they can't be freed for rest and possible duty in other critical sectors of the world.

Furthermore, it's felt this attempt to keep the border areas in Red hands may be linked directly with a Russian desire to promote prolonged guerrilla warfare in Korea. The success of guerrilla fighting in Greece was due largely to the fact that the rebels could mount their offensives from the territory of surrounding Red nations. Once Yugoslavia, the chief helper, closed its border, the Greek guerrillas did not last long.

There's also the view that this Korean "Battle of the Bulge" may help Communists generally to salvage some of the "face" they have lost through the series of defeats inflicted by UN forces since the Inchon landing.

It is too early to tell how effective Stalin's limited intervention will prove. Already it has made real trouble for our forces. A battalion of the American First Cavalry Division had to be abandoned in a Red trap.

One thing is certain: The Reds can't recapture the bulk of North Korea and liberated South Korea without committing many more Chinese troops than are now engaged. To do that would be to risk World War III. Unless Russia is ready for another global conflict—and no expert thinks she is—the risk isn't likely to be taken.

Meantime, China's Red regime, by joining in the Korean war, has given one more convincing argument why it should not be admitted to the United Nations. Indeed, off their showing in Tibet and Korea, one can only conclude the Chinese Communists don't want to be admitted.

ELECTION TELEVISION

This election has produced a startling new technique in electioneering. It was introduced by Thomas E. Dewey. Dewey on Monday before Election Day took time, over a period of 18 hours, on one television network blanketing the entire state of New York.

This technique involved sending out teams to pick up questions from the man on the street to be answered by the candidate; to accept questions over the telephone to be answered immediately. All this was shown on television. Also, every statement made by the opposing candidate was immediately answered. Charts, photographs, documents, letters, even newspaper clippings and headlines were exhibited to the television audience. And everybody in his entourage, including Mrs. Dewey, got into the act.

No prepared speeches were read; the candidate talking as he went along, jumping from one subject to another.

I watched it for some time and realized that once television reached maturity, this type of campaigning will be utilized by most candidates and that it will have a tremendous political effect.

Radio has in a measure confused the people. The speaker cannot be seen. He might be talking with his tongue in his cheek or laughing up his sleeve. If he possesses a good listening voice, such as was the gift of Franklin D. Roosevelt, his audience will like him. He reads a prepared document from which he dare not depart lest he lose his timing.

On television, every grimace of his face, every wrinkle on his brow is visible. A candidate would have to be a great actor to succeed in fooling the people on television, where his personality is vividly exposed. I do not blame some of the candidates who in this campaign ducked television appearances, particularly joint appearances where comparisons could be made.

At one stage of this television show, Dewey's opponent, Walter A. Lynch, had in another studio of the same network made statements to which Dewey objected. Dewey immediately sent his secretary and newspapermen to invite Lynch to his television show to debate the charges Lynch had made. Lynch declined in annoyance and walked out. Dewey told the story, with the fire of contempt, over television shortly after it happened. It was the unrestrained anger of a man in his own home.

Television can undo the harm of the radio voice. It is no secret that in the 1944 campaign, on the famous occasion when Franklin D. Roosevelt sat in an open car through a parade during a constant downpour of rain to prove that he was not a dying man—as was reported—he had evidently too much to drink.

That night when he spoke at the Waldorf-Astoria, he was not altogether sober. I personally checked every detail of that occasion and there has never been any doubt in my mind that, chilled to the bone, he had taken too many double martinis and was affected by them, so that he giggled and his tongue slipped, and there were other signs of inadequate control of the motor nerves.

Yet, his radio voice was glorious that night and the slips were generally attributed to techniques, except by those who were there.

On television that would have been impossible. The television audience would have been shocked by his conduct. He might even have lost the election and this nation would have been spared the Yalta conference and his sudden death in office with its consequences. Television at that moment would have been like an X-ray of his personality.

Radio has ajded mediocre personalities who possess a voice and a manner; television can bring the candidate back to the people where they can study his face, his personality in sharp outline. The close-up is something that the faker will dread.

Of course, producers will work out techniques for hiding blemishes, but most of them will fail. For the lights that shine so brightly to make television possible at all, force the speaker to be himself. The psychology of it is that he feels that light; he cannot hide from it. Whenever I have been on television, I have felt that light burn inside me like a strong emotion. Professional actors speak of the lights; the amateur cannot withstand them. Those who fear, will avoid them.

It will be interesting to watch the development of this new technique and its political consequences.

That Body of Yours

MENIERE'S DISEASE

I write frequently about Meniere's disease—partial loss of hearing, head noises, dizziness, and sometimes vomiting—because so many are afflicted with it and because in so many cases simple methods of treatment give relief. Great relief is obtained by cutting down on all liquids, as too much water in the tissues in and adjoining the ear upsets the balancing canals in the ear and dizziness, head noises, and vomiting result. Relief is obtained as well by use of nicotinic acid and histamine, and blowing out the eustachian tubes which carry the air from back of throat to middle ear, creating air pressure against the inner side of the eardrum to balance the air pressing against the outer side.

Some months ago, Dr. G. Selfridge, in Archives of Ear and Throat, Chicago, in naming the various conditions causing Meniere's disease mentioned deficiencies of vitamins, especially vitamin B. It is, therefore, of interest to learn more about vitamin B from another authoritative source.

In Archives of Ear and Throat Dr. M. Atkinson states that, while all the methods of treatment mentioned above undoubtedly give some relief, the general physical condition of the patient with Meniere's disease may not be improved. While these methods improved the hearing and gave relief from noises and dizziness, they do not improve the general nervous condition or improve the structure of the nerve cells themselves.

The general nervous symptoms due to lack of vitamin B and its substances (vitamin B complex) are described. This lack of vitamin B complex affects the following body systems: the nervous system, eyes, stomach and intestines, locomotion (movement of legs and arms), heart and blood vessels, and the skin and mucous membranes (linings of various organs). Dr. Atkinson lists the symptoms pointing to specific lack of nicotonic acid, riboflavin and thiamine. He gives the history of two patients to show the degree of chronic deficiency, and consequent ill health, from which many patients suffer in addition to their near disturbance.

Food rich in Vitamin B complex are: yeast, wheat germ, malted milk, beef, beef liver, ham, becon, whole wheat bread.

Let the Cobbler Stick to His Last

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—President Truman and top advisers are about to uncork a pretty stiff bottle of defense medicine for the American people. It involves an unprecedented technique for arming America without putting the country into a complete economic strait jacket.

The program has been decided at a series of ultrasecret meetings of Stuart Symington's National Security Resources Board, now charged with over-all responsibility for war preparedness. Here's what it involves:

1. More Money — Truman will ask Congress for an additional $19,000,000,000 in the next 30 days, bringing the budget up to $54,000,000,000 for defense alone.

2. Few Controls — Price and wage controls will be delayed as long as possible, probably until next spring on all but a few short materials. These include steel and aluminum. Meanwhile, Symington is personally cracking the whip on both labor and management to keep prices down.

Note—The Ford Motor Company immediately accepted Symington's suggestion that it not increase prices. Symington also arranged secretly for Truman to call CIO President Philip Murray and soft-pedal the steelworkers' demands for a wage hike; so a new round of steel price boosts would be prevented.

3. More Factories—Truman advisers are convinced that a wartime preparedness program can be built right alongside our peacetime economy without pinching the American people too sharply, chiefly by plant expansion.

4. Heavy Taxes—The administration plans to control inflation by an almost ruthless tax program plus vigorous credit controls. The Treasury Department headed by timid Secretary John Snyder is dragging its feet on this, but the Federal Reserve Board, plus Symington and the President's economic advisers, are now urging a 10 per cent excess-profits tax as well as sharply increased corporate taxes to finance defense on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Prize Bureaucrat

Symington fully expects to wind up being the nation's most unpopular bureaucrat, and a phone call he got the other day from Speaker Sam Rayburn in Bonham, Texas, indicates that he is on the way. Sam was complaining about the new credit controls.

"Last month," said the speaker, "200 cars were sold down here in Bonham. This month, thanks to credit controls, the number sold was only five."

"How big is Bonham?" Symington asked.

"Eight thousand, five hundred," replied the speaker.

"Well, 200 cars a month is too many for a city of that size," argued Symington.

He went on to explain, however, that he did not want to cut auto sales to zero, only wanted to strike a happy medium. And he is genuinely concerned lest credit controls mop up surplus cash too fast. He doesn't want to drive the country into a recession by curtailing buying power before spending takes up the slack, and estimates that the main defense spending will be felt shortly after Christmas.

More Steel Mills

Most important part of the new plan is for large-scale building of new factories, following which defense spending and peacetime economy can continue side by side. To that end there will be a 25 per cent increase in steel production, a doubling of aluminum production, and a big increase in electric-power capacity.

Prior to Pearl Harbor, a committee of experts headed by Gano Dunn of the J. G. White Engineering Co. recommended against any increase in steel production. It feared idle blast furnaces after the war.

As a result of this recommendation the ensuing steel shortage forced the American public to forego automobiles, refrigerators and other steel products during the war. And, since the war, instead of having idle blast furnaces, the steel industry has been running at full capacity, with U. S. Steel earning the highest profits in history.

With the world's population rapidly increasing, Symington predicts the same thing will happen again.

Note—Real father of the new program is Leon Keyserling, head of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. He feels that the U.S.A. cannot be turned into an economic dictatorship by too many controls, too much bureaucracy. Sufficient plant expansion to handle both civilian needs and war needs, he says, is the alternative.

Silent Filibuster

Nevada's Republican Senator George W. Malone, darling of the slot-machine racketeers and the copper trust, set quite a record for himself when he hogged nearly 61 pages of the 163-page appendix of the October 20 Congressional Record.

Malone inserted 47 items totaling 1,687½ column inches, for a total of 60.8 pages, 37 per cent of the total. At a printing cost of $82 per page, the Nevadan spent $498.56 of the taxpayers' money to make a wide variety of insertions. The longest, titled "Copper, a Symbol," ate up 14½ pages; the shortest, his own statement asserting that Dean Acheson (secretary of state) is trying to oust General MacArthur, consumed 4½ column inches.

Business Seems to Have Gained Much Heart as Result of Elections in Nation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 10—Business men throughout the country, judging from reports received here, are tremendously heartened by the election.

Many of them feel that the election was the most critical in a generation and that the effect of it will be to make it possible to do business planning with more confidence.

The reason, of course, is that the trend toward the socialistic state has been growing since 1933 and not even the election of 1946 showed any clear indication that the people were aware of trends.

In the campaign just closed, however, these issues were made clear. The "Fair Deal" was not treated as an entity but specific parts of it came under severe attack. So far as business is concerned, it regards the check applied to labor-union politicians to be the most encouraging aspect of the whole election.

Business men today are satisfied with an evenly balanced labor-management law and they would not object seriously to many of the amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act which were passed by the Senate but blocked in the House. What aroused genuine alarm was the effort on the part of the unions to form political organizations to elect members of Congress who would do their bidding.

In state after state the Republican nominees carried industrial districts where there is a large labor vote. Such areas as, for example, Cuyahoga county, which includes Cleveland, have rarely been carried by the Republicans. It has a large labor vote. But Senator Taft carried it this year by 22,000.

From other states, too, comes the story of how labor-union members, resenting dictation by their officers, voted their party preferences on the basis of issues other than labor-union politics.

This is the kind of news that business men have wishfully hoped for in the past, but today they see it plainly in the statistics. It means that the American electorate does react to argument and debate, and to an explanation of the issues by the candidates.

What such an election can mean to American enterprise in future years cannot be exaggerated. After the successive victories of the New Deal and then the Truman election in 1948, business men began to feel that America was drifting to the "left" and toward a socialistic government such as Great Britain has today. The election this week is construed as a definite turning of the tide.

Undoubtedly many Democrats contributed to the result. In state after state, the victories are saying that independent Democrats helped them offset the heavy labor-union vote or the pressure of organized machines. This is exactly the way the two-party system has often functioned in decades gone by. The lesson learned in the 1948 election was applied in last Tuesday's election—the Republicans did an intensive job in the precincts and got out their vote.

From all over the country comes the same story. The Republican organizations of men and women did not depend on forecasts or take anything for granted. They canvassed the citizens and in most instances found them already alert to the necessity of voting. Many a candidate says that the same attitude, if manifested in 1948, would have told a different story in the electoral vote column then.

Likewise, the campaign stirred up more interest than is customary in an election that occurs in the middle of a presidential term. This may or may not have been due to the increased attention given the political contests by the press as well as by the radio and television. But it was due to no small extent to the fact that this congressional compaign actually began as far back as a year ago. Certainly Senator Taft began campaigning then, and so did the opposition forces.

One thing seems clear—campaigns are getting longer and longer and hence are exciting much more interest on the part of those who do vote. While the total who voted was not as high percentagewise as in other years, when the figures are all in, it may be found that a higher per cent of those who were registered went to the polls than in a presidential election year.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Several rarefied intellects who joined the propaganda machine called the Society for the Prevention of World War 3 have been surprised to hear that the Siamese Twin of this bulldozing force, the non-sectarian anti-Nazi League, employs professional sneaks to spy on American citizens and organizations.

Both the society and the league are political and personal projects of Isidore Lipschutz, a rich diamond merchant from Belgium. The Buchanan committee of the House of Representatives is afraid of the society, the league and Lipschutz. Buchanan hounded a number of pro-American, anti-Communist propagandists and societies including one outstanding advocate of constitutional government. But the society, the league and Lipschutz were not even mentioned.

In the testimony of Dorothy Waring, published in the report of a special House committee to investigate the Federal Communications Commission, 78th Congress, first session, 1943, she identified herself as "director of investigation of the anti-Nazi League." Waring is an assumed name. Eugene Garey of New York, counsel for the committee, conducted the examinations.

Miss Waring told Garey that Mario Buzzi was employed by the league as an investigator and did not deny that he was an "undercover man" but merely objected to the term. Buzzi was then ducking a committee subpoena. He was exactly that. He recently showed an inside familiarity with the Society for the Prevention of World War III, as well. Miss Waring said he was known also as Nino Bossi.

She said, "My business is determining the practices of people, who have been reported to us, or that we have been queried about, as being either engaged in subversive activities, or un-American activities, or doing anything which may, in any way, hamper the war effort."

Lipschutz himself, the arbiter of correct "Americanism," had a very hard time obtaining American citizenship. The government objected to him on charges of moral turpitude.

James H. Sheldon, "administrative secretary" of the league, testified that it investigated persons whom it suspected of pro-Nazi activities. He said the league maintained a "small staff" of investigators who accumulated "information." It had a "considerable amount of material collected with respect to various people in the United States."

"The league's field of endeavor has been primarily concerned with propaganda in the twilight zone between seditious activities and violations of the espionage act, on the one hand, and good Americanism on the other," he said. "Our investigating department has been able to secure the services of one or two people who had had governmental experience with the McCormack investigating activities. I am referring particularly to Miss Waring."

The "McCormack activities" were actually conducted by Congressman Sam Dickstein, of New York, now a judge. A snoop, known as Richard Rollins, was Dickstein's investigator. In 1939, he became "chief" of the "Bureau of Investigation" of the Anti-Nazi League. He wrote a book in which he said the league had more than two million members. It never had anything of the kind. Rollins served as an army "investigator" in the United States during the war, mostly in Boston, where he had established his home and had made political connections. He investigated "subversive" activities along the docks and somehow became an enforcement agent for the O.P.A. He is now a chewing gum salesman.

Miss Waring's "governmental experience" was set forth in a fantastic story in "True Confessions." She relates that the "chief" of the "Undercover Department" of the government swore her in as "Agent 89." No such department ever existed.

Rollins related that the league made him its "national director of investigation." The inconsistency of his two titles is his own. He said he was to run the department exactly as he saw fit and that he kept several "of my old operatives and added several new ones."

Sheldon, the "administrative secretary," referred to Dorothy Waring as "our director of investigation." He said she detailed "a member of our staff" to trail a man who had inquired for Buzzi at the league's New York office. The league did not know it, but the man was trying to serve a congressional subpoena on Buzzi.

"I have here that person's report, shadowing a suspicious person," Sheldon said.

In volume 12 of the hearing of the Committee on Un-American Activities, Dorothy Waring testifies that she got a job as confidential secretary in the office of a small group called the Order of '76, to steal confidential papers. The order apparently was law-abiding although unpopular. Rollins was planted in the same office. He wrote that the theft was accomplished.

Dr. J. B. Mathews, who served long and well as chief investigator for the Committee on Un-American Activities, states that Miss Waring laid a pistol on the table as she began her remarks. She said the gun had been worn by William Dudley Pelley, who was sent to a federal prison for pro-Nazi activities.

The spying activities of Mr. Lipschutz's anti-Nazi League did not end when the war ended.

In December, 1946, the league boasted of having planted Renee Fruchtbaum in the offices of a small klux called the Columbians in Atlanta. Buzzi also took part in that feat. Newspaper reports stated that Miss Fruchtbaum used a "fountain pen camera to make microphotos" on the correspondence of the Columbians.

In Garey's examination of James Alfred Guest, "senior field attorney of the F.C.C.," the shocking disclosure is made that the Federal Communication Commission used as an informant against Station WBNX a man who had been taking narcotics for more than 20 years, who suffered from delusions, and had been confined for institutional treatment. Garey then read back to Guest an official memorandum which Guest had written in which Guest reported that this man had "done the bulk of his investigatory work" for the anti-Nazi League.

"The anti-Nazi League was one of your informants, was it not?" Garey demanded

"I don't like your use of the word," Guest said.

"I don't care whether you like it or not," Garey said, "I want you to answer my question. Did you receive information from them?"

"Yes, we did," said Guest.

Even after the commission learned of the man's background the station's permanent license was held up two years more.

Gauge for Achievements

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—Education should gauge its achievements not only in "academic results but in individual productiveness," 250 educators were told last night. Mary Fisher Langmuir of Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, expressed the view at the opening session of a three-day meeting of the New York State Association of Deans and Guidance Personnel. She is professor of child study at Vassar. Edward R. Schlesinger of the State Health Department discussed work of the New York state committee of 100 and its approach to mental health problems. Dr. Lewis Wilson, state education commissioner, will speak today.

As Pegler Sees It

for the O.P.A. He is now a chewing gum salesman.

Miss Waring's "governmental experience" was set forth in a fantastic story in "True Confessions." She relates that the "chief" of the "Undercover Department" of the government swore her in as "Agent 89." No such department ever existed.

Rollins related that the league made him its "national director of investigation." The inconsistency of his two titles is his own. He said he was to run the department exactly as he saw fit and that he kept several "of my old operatives and added several new ones."

Sheldon, the "administrative secretary," referred to Dorothy Waring as "our director of investigation." He said she detailed "a member of our staff" to trail a man who had inquired for Buzzi at the league's New York office. The league did not know it, but the man was trying to serve a congressional subpoena on Buzzi.

"I have here that person's report, shadowing a suspicious person," Sheldon said.

In volume 12 of the hearing of the Committee on Un-American Activities, Dorothy Waring testifies that she got a job as confidential secretary in the office of a small group called the Order of '76, to steal confidential papers. The order apparently was lawabiding although unpopular. Rollins was planted in the same office. He wrote that the theft was accomplished.

Dr. J. B. Mathews, who served long and well as chief investigator for the Committee on Un-American Activities, states that Miss Waring laid a pistol on the table as she began her remarks. She said the gun had been worn by William Dudley Pelley, who was sent to a federal prison for pro-Nazi activities.

The spying activities of Mr. Lipschutz's anti-Nazi League did not end when the war ended.

In December, 1946, the league boasted of having planted Renee Fruchtbaum in the offices of a small klux called the Columbians in Atlanta. Buzzi also took part in that feat. Newspaper reports stated that Miss Fruchtbaum used a "fountain pen camera to make microphotos" on the correspondence of the Columbians.

In Garey's examination of James Alfred Guest, "senior field attorney of the F.C.C.," the shocking disclosure is made that the Federal Communication Commission used as an informant against Station WBNX a man who had been taking narcotics for more than 20 years, who suffered from delusions, and had been confined for institutional treatment. Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

A NOSEGAY FOR THE NOSE

Ruthrauff & Ryan, Inc.
405 Lexington Avenue
New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen:

Along with everyone else in show business, I caught Jimmy Durante's television debut on NBC the other night, and along with everyone else I'd like to congratulate your agency and the sponsor who footed the bill. To my way of viewing, Jimmy's show was the gayest 60 minutes video has come up with so far—the little man who walks like a penguin once again proved he's the dean of the Daffy Dans, and that whenever given half a chance he can work up more heat than Mrs. O'Leary's cow.

Just one thing bothers me. It's an odds-on bet that by the time the cameras faded out on the most celebrated nose since Cyrano's, you advertising men were saying to each other, "Now that we've got the hottest asset in TV, how can we best use it? Guess we'd better call a board meeting and hammer out a policy."

Well, gentlemen, nobody asked me, but for the good of everyone concerned I'd like to make a couple of suggestions: (a) Don't hold that meeting, and (b) don't worry about how to use the asset—just get out of its way. And if you doubt the wisdom of this procedure, let me review what happened to the great Schnozzola in Hollywood.

Back in the '30's when Durante first appeared in the movies, he was the biggest thing since Chaplin. On every street corner kids were putting on paper noses and doing the "Strut-away," and for a while it looked as if "Inka-Dinka-Doo" might replace the national anthem. However, after a couple of pictures the Joe McGeniuses moved in on Durante and worked out a "policy," the essence of which was to present him in soupy love stories and use him as a jack-in-the-box specialty act whenever the plot got into trouble. Naturally, even Jimmy couldn't stand off these synthetic sagas and, as you may remember, there was a five-year period when our greatest clown was lost in the celluloid shuffle.

Fortunately, though, you can't keep a good volcano down. A few seasons ago Jimmy came back to New York to do a night-club stint, and within a matter of days he was again the talk of show business. And the climax of his comeback took place the other night when, like Vesuvius blowing its top, he erupted into a million parlors with his inspired mugging and mischief-making.

Have I any suggestions on how to keep the Durante program as slaphappy and side-splitting as it was on opening night? Of course I have or I wouldn't have put the question in your mouth, and I can best state them by repeating what I told a worried Jimmy when he came to see me a couple of weeks before his first program:

On a Durante show, all I want to see is Durante, Durante and more Durante. Let the cameras draw a bead on that India-rubber face at the beginning and stay right with it until the final fade-out. Don't clutter up my view of it with trick photography, pretentious scenery, ballet boloney or run-of-the-million vaudeville acts. The girl numbers, if there must be girl numbers, should be brief and centered around Jimmy. For a finale, in an old-time night-club setting, let him sit at his lop-sided tinkle-box and, with Eddie Jackson singing like a croupy angel, tear up the joint as he used to in the old days.

In other words, the best way to produce a Durante show is to do no producing at all—and as efficiently as possible.

A word of warning, gentlemen: A secret organization was formed the other night by Jimmy's aficionados to watch his progress on TV, and if any of your account executives start messing with his act, men with big muscles will march down Lexington avenue and turn your agency into a bowling alley.

Yours truly,
Billy Rose

Endorse Girl Scout Movement

Robert Herzog, president of the Board of Education, and the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, minister of the Fair Street Reformed Church, endorse the Girl Scout movement. In connection with the current Girl Scout financial campaign, they have made the following statements:

Robert Herzog: The Girl Scout movement carries my endorsement because it teaches girls from seven to seventeen the skills necessary not only in arts and crafts but in many other fields to make them good future citizens.

The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra: The program of Girl Scouting more than appeals, its call comes as a challenge of a responsibility which we have toward the nurture and growth of our next generation of womanhood.

Pyle Victorious

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 10 (AP)—Howard Pyle, 44-year-old Phoenix radio executive, was assured of election today as governor. Pyle, first Republican to win the office in 20 years, has a 3,031 vote lead over Mrs. Ana Frohmiller, the Democratic candidate, on the basis of complete returns from 479 of the state's 481 precincts. His total is 98,955, Mrs. Frohmiller's 95,924. Only a few hundred votes from isolated areas remain to be counted.

"SEA-GOING PX"—This unusual rescue raft, unveiled by the Air Force at Wright-Patterson Base, Dayton, O., is designed to keep 20 men alive in comfort after forced landing at sea. At top, the nylon raft—which comes equipped with food and all accessories needed for survival—is open for fair weather. Below, the "hatches" are battened down to show its snugness during rough weather at sea.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Little Cards Can Do Big Damage

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Can you imagine anything more worthless than West's four low hearts in today's hand? Keep your eye on those worthless cards and see what an important role they played.

West opened the eight of clubs, East played the ten, and South won with the queen. Declarer considered going after the hearts at once but feared that the opponents would manage to get a heart, a spade, two diamonds, and a club before he could gather in nine tricks.

At the second trick, therefore, South led a low diamond. West hopped up with his king at once to lead his remaining club. East won with the club ace and returned the seven of clubs, but South correctly finessed the nine holding the trick. A low heart was discarded from dummy on the third round of clubs.

What did West discard on the third club? Certainly not one of those precious but microscopic hearts. West knew he wasn't going to need all five of his spades, so he discarded one of those.

South led another low diamond, keeping the ace in his hand to retain an entry. East won with the jack of diamonds and returned another club. South winning with the king. West once more discarded a low spade, and dummy once more discarded a low heart.

Now South laid down the ace of diamonds, and West for the third time discarded a low spade in order to preserve the four smallest hearts in the deck.

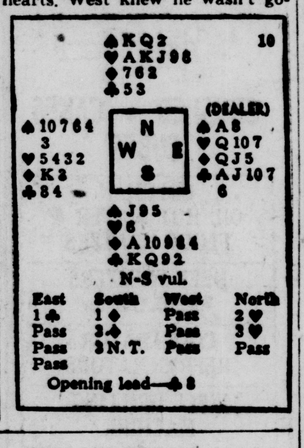
When South followed with the ten and nine of diamonds, West discarded a fourth low spade and, finally, the deuce of hearts. East discarded the eight of spades and the seven of hearts. Dummy, naturally, parted with the deuce and queen of spades.

At this point there were only four cards in each hand. Declarer knew that East held the ace of spades and the last club, hence at most two hearts. It would do him no good to lead a spade, for East would take the ace and then cash the club for the setting trick. South had to decide how to play the hearts to win three tricks.

He realized that East might have unguarded the queen. Against that was the fact that East did not need the queen of hearts for an opening bid and that West had avoided a heart discard until the very last moment. Whey had West so carefully saved his hearts?

South naturally came to the conclusion that West had the queen of hearts, and he therefore tried the finesse of dummy's jack. That allowed East to win with the queen and set the contract two tricks with the ace of spades and the last club.

Now see what would have happened if West had carelessly discarded a couple of low hearts early in the hand. South would have been able to read the situation accurately at the end. He would have gone up with the ace of hearts, dropping the queen on the next trick.



Find Miner's Body

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—Rescue workers last night recovered the body of a 43-year-old miner who had been trapped by a coal fall 65 feet below the surface. Fifty volunteers had worked at fever pitch for hours in hopes the miner, John Reise, of Minersville, was still alive. His body was finally located under 12 feet of coal and other debris.

Will Swear In Mayor

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Mayor-elect Vincent R. Impellitteri will be sworn in at 1 p. m. Tuesday in the city hall's board of estimate chamber. The mayor's office said the rites will not be elaborate. The new mayor, former president of the City Council, has been acting mayor since the resignation last Sept. 2 of William O'Dwyer.

805 Gas House Units Installed This Year

Arrival of natural gas from Texas has resulted in installation of 805 gas house heaters in the Mid-Hudson Valley since January 1, 1950, the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation announced today. This compares with 1,350 gas house heaters installed during the preceding 24 years since Central Hudson first sold gas for house heating in 1926.

Company officials stated that the house heaters installed so far this year will consume approximately 100,000,000 cubic feet of nnatural gas annually. It is estimated that the company will have 2,350 house heating customers by the end of 1950. According to its engineers, however, it can serve 8,000 gas house heating customers without further substantial increase in its gas distribution or transmission systems.

Will Save on Mail

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Post Office Department estimates it will save about $500,000 a year under a new international postal agreement being signed today in Madrid. The agreement, among members of the postal union of the Americas and Spain, calls upon the sending country to pay the costs of any reshipments required in handling surface mail. Previously, these costs along with the cost of the original shipment has been borne by the country whose flag vessel carried the mail. Much of this fell to the United States because of the large number of mail ships maintained by this country.

Shells Out 350 Silvers

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 10 (AP)—Clink—clink—clink. Chains rattling? No, just Winthrop D. Thies of Scarsdale, N. Y., shelling out 350 silver dollars yesterday to pay his room and board bill at Princeton University. He could have paid off in 'silent' paper, Thies said, but he wanted to protest the "government's soft money policy" with the 20-pounds of silver.

Reward—in Van Nuys

Van Nuys, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—Irving Levin was brought up to believe that honesty, like virtue is its own reward. So, when he found a billfold with $90 in cash, he turned it in to police. He went back to his car—to find he'd been ticketed for illegal parking.

By BILLY ROSE

A NOSEGAY FOR THE NOSE
Ruthrauff & Ryan, Inc.
405 Lexington Avenue
New York, N. Y.
Gentlemen:

Along with everyone else in show business, I caught Jimmy Durante's television debut on NBC the other night, and along with everyone else I'd like to congratulate your agency and the sponsor who footed the bill. To my way of viewing, Jimmy's show was the gayest 60 minutes video has come up with so far—the little man who walks like a penguin once again proved he's the dean of the Daffy Dans, and that whenever given half a chance he can work up more heat than Mrs. O'Leary's cow.

Just one thing bothers me. It's an odds-on bet that by the time the cameras faded out on the most celebrated nose since Cyrano's, you advertising men were saying to each other, "Now that we've got the hottest asset in TV, how can we best use it? Guess we'd better call a board meeting and hammer out a policy."

Well, gentlemen, nobody asked me, but for the good of everyone concerned I'd like to make a couple of suggestions: (a) Don't hold that meeting, and (b) don't worry about how to use the asset—just get out of its way. And if you doubt the wisdom of this procedure, let me review what happened to the great Schnozzola in Hollywood.

Back in the '30's when Durante first appeared in the movies, he was the biggest thing since Chaplin. On every street corner kids were putting on paper noses and doing the "Strut-away," and for a while it looked as if "Inka-Dinka-Doo" might replace the national anthem. However, after a couple of pictures the Joe McGeniuses moved in on Durante and worked out a "policy," the essence of which was to present him in soupy love stories and use him as a jack-in-the-box specialty act whenever the plot got into trouble. Naturally, even Jimmy couldn't stand off these synthetic sagas and, as you may remember, there was a five-year period when our greatest clown was lost in the celluloid shuffle.

Fortunately, though, you can't keep a good volcano down. A few seasons ago Jimmy came back to New York to do a night-club stint, and within a matter of days he was again the talk of show business. And the climax of his comeback took place the other night when, like Vesuvius blowing its top, he erupted into a million parlors with his inspired mugging and mischief-making.

Have I any suggestions on how to keep the Durante program as slaphappy and side-splitting as it was on opening night? Of course I have or I wouldn't have put the question in your mouth, and I can best state them by repeating what I told a worried Jimmy when he came to see me a couple of weeks before his first program:

On a Durante show, all I want to see is Durante, Durante and more Durante. Let the cameras draw a bead on that India-rubber face at the beginning and stay right with it until the final fade-out. Don't clutter up my view of it with trick photography, pretentious scenery, ballet boloney or run-of-the-million vaudeville acts. The girl numbers, if there must be girl numbers, should be brief and centered around Jimmy. For a finale, in an old-time night-club setting, let him sit at his lop-sided tinkle-box and, with Eddie Jackson singing like a croupy angel, tear up the joint as he used to in the old days.

In other words, the best way to produce a Durante show is to do no producing at all—and as efficiently as possible.

A word of warning, gentlemen: A secret organization was formed the other night by Jimmy's aficionados to watch his progress on TV, and if any of your account executives start messing with his act, men with big muscles will march down Lexington avenue and turn your agency into a bowling alley.

Yours truly,
Billy Rose

Endorse Girl Scout Movement

Robert Herzog, president of the Board of Education, and the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, minister of the Fair Street Reformed Church, endorse the Girl Scout movement. In connection with the current Girl Scout financial campaign, they have made the following statements:

Robert Herzog: The Girl Scout movement carries my endorsement because it teaches girls from seven to seventeen the skills necessary not only in arts and crafts but in many other fields to make them good future citizens.

The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra: The program of Girl Scouting more than appeals, its call comes as a challenge of a responsibility which we have toward the nurture and growth of our next generation of womanhood.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Little Cards Can Do Big Damage

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Can you imagine anything more worthless than West's four low hearts in today's hand? Keep your eye on those worthless cards and see what an important role they played.

West opened the eight of clubs, East played the ten, and South won with the queen. Declarer considered going after the hearts at once but feared that the opponents would manage to get a heart, a spade, two diamonds, and a club before he could gather in nine tricks.

At the second trick, therefore, South led a low diamond. West hopped up with his king at once to lead his remaining club. East won with the club ace and returned the seven of clubs, but South correctly finessed the nine holding the trick. A low heart was discarded from dummy on the third round of clubs.

What did West discard on the third club? Certainly not one of those precious but microscopic hearts. West knew he wasn't going to need all five of his spades, so he discarded one of those.

South led another low diamond, keeping the ace in his hand to retain an entry. East won with the jack of diamonds and returned another club, South winning with the king. West once more discarded a low spade, and dummy once more discarded a low heart.

Now South laid down the ace of diamonds, and West for the third time discarded a low spade in order to preserve the four smallest hearts in the deck.

When South followed with the ten and nine of diamonds, West discarded a fourth low spade and, finally, the deuce of hearts. East discarded the eight of spades and the seven of hearts. Dummy, naturally, parted with the deuce and queen of spades.

At this point there were only four cards in each hand. Declarer knew that East held the ace of spades and the last club, hence at most two hearts. It would do him no good to lead a spade, for East would take the ace and then cash the club for the setting trick. South had to decide how to play the hearts to win three tricks.

He realized that East might have unguarded the queen. Against that was the fact that East did not need the queen of hearts for an opening bid and that West had avoided a heart discard until the very last moment. Whey had West so carefully saved his hearts?

South naturally came to the conclusion that West had the queen of hearts, and he therefore tried the finesse of dummy's jack. That allowed East to win with the queen and set the contract two tricks with the ace of spades and the last club.

Now see what would have happened if West had carelessly discarded a couple of low hearts early in the hand. South would have been able to read the situation accurately at the end. He would have gone up with the ace of hearts, dropping the queen on the next trick.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—Rescue workers last night recovered the body of a 43-year-old miner who had been trapped by a coal fall 65 feet below the surface. Fifty volunteers had worked at fever pitch for hours in hopes the miner, John Reise, of Minersville, was still alive. His body was finally located under 12 feet of coal and other debris.

805 Gas House Units Installed This Year

Arrival of natural gas from Texas has resulted in installation of 805 gas house heaters in the Mid-Hudson Valley since January 1, 1950, the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation announced today. This compares with 1,350 gas house heaters installed during the preceding 24 years since Central Hudson first sold gas for house heating in 1926.

Company officials stated that the house heaters installed so far this year will consume approximately 100,000,000 cubic feet of nnatural gas annually. It is estimated that the company will have 2,350 house heating customers by the end of 1950. According to its engineers, however, it can serve 8,000 gas house heating customers without further substantial increase in its gas distribution or transmission systems.

Will Save on Mail

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Post Office Department estimates it will save about $500,000 a year under a new international postal agreement being signed today in Madrid. The agreement, among members of the postal union of the Americas and Spain, calls upon the sending country to pay the costs of any reshipments required in handling surface mail. Previously, these costs along with the cost of the original shipment has been borne by the country whose flag vessel carried the mail. Much of this fell to the United States because of the large number of mail ships maintained by this country.

Shells Out 350 Silvers

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 10 (AP)—Clink—clink—clink. Chains rattling? No, just Winthrop D. Thies of Scarsdale, N. Y., shelling out 350 silver dollars yesterday to pay his room and board bill at Princeton University. He could have paid off in 'silent' paper, Thies said, but he wanted to protest the "government's soft money policy" with the 20-pounds of silver.

Van Nuys, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—Irving Levin was brought up to believe that honesty, like virtue is its own reward. So, when he found a billfold with $90 in cash, he turned it in to police. He went back to his car—to find he'd been ticketed for illegal parking.

Y-Deals Attend Monthly Dinner

Members of the Y-Deal Club attended their monthly dinner Tuesday evening at the Y.W.C.A., where fall sharpened appetites tackled pancakes, sausage, and coffee.

Following supper, which was prepared by the girls themselves, and a rapid round of dish-washing, members joined in a song fest around the Y's new piano. Other feature of the evening was a surprise bridal shower held in an upstairs room for the club's president, Miss Alice Johnson of Glenford. Miss Johnson will become the bride of Peter Weider, November 25, at St. Mary's Church. Refreshments were also served.

Meribeth Cameron, Mt. Holyoke Dean, To Address Alums

Miss Meribeth Cameron, academic dean and professor of history at Mount Holyoke College, will speak on the Far East during a special luncheon of the Hudson Valley Mount Holyoke Club, scheduled to be held November 18 at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie.

Miss Cameron, an authority on Far Eastern history, is also familiar with teaching and administrative problems which confront universities and liberal arts colleges.

Born in the district of Ontario, she is a naturalized citizen, while her home is in Los Angeles. She holds B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from Stamford University, and a M.A. degree from Radcliffe College. Before coming to Mount Holyoke in 1948 she taught European and Asiatic history at Reed College, Western Reserve University, and Milwaukee-Downer, where she also held administrative posts. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Jewish Center.

For their wedding trip the couple visited Atlantic City, and Washington, D. C. The bride's traveling outfit featured brown, with matching accessories.

ANOTHER CHILDREN PROBLEM

A letter says: "We have a new car and also some good friends whom we love. Nothing would please us more than to ask them out with us if it did not mean taking their children, too. Invariably the children will be allowed to eat something and it is all over the car. Last time the upholstery bore the brunt of candy bars. How can we handle this situation so as not to cause hurt feelings? Please do not say that the only way is not to invite them.

Since you say these are good friends who you know very well you certainly can say, "Please don't let the children eat anything sticky in the car." You may very well prevent this by offering dry popcorn or crackers, which you keep on hand—neither of which would be spoiling to the car.

Impersonal Message

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it seem forward of me to send a birthday greeting to a young man I met last summer and who took me out while I visited a cousin but from whom I haven't heard since? I know it will be his birthday soon, but I don't want to have him think I'm running after him.

Answer: Sending a birthday card certainly is the proper gesture if its message is impersonal.

A Question of Heart

Dear Mrs. Post: Co-workers have voiced their opinions this way: Why doesn't she take off he wedding ring now that her husband is not living?" Others I know think it proper for me to contine wearing it. What is right?

Answer: For so long as your husband has first place in your heart you wear your ring—in many cases this is for life and for others a shorter time.

Mourning for Child

Dear Mrs. Post: Does a mother ever go into mourning clothes for a young child?

Answer: If very young she seldom does, but she may if she wants to.

Flower Girl

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to have a flower girl when having only one adult attendant?

Answer: Yes.

Girl Scout Week

Girl Scouts are trained so that they may
Become good citizens in every way.
Good living and habits they do learn
In their hearts Americanism burns.

Future women are in their wake
Devoted wives and mothers they'll make
Support them, for they do much good
The Girl Scout cause is easily understood.

To be a Girl Scout is every girl's desire
New knowledge they do acquire
To do good deeds they always endeavor
Once a Girl Scout, a good Scout forever.

Girl Scouts stand out everywhere
Faces shining, no joy to compare
To build their land and strengthen the foundation
Girl Scouts will reach new elevation.

To our Girl Scouts any encouragement we give
The buds of womanhood will forever live
Continue your efforts, never pause
The noblest work is the Girl Scout cause.

Warren Girl Rallies

Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP) Nina Warren is "rallying splendidly" from infantile paralysis, Dr. Junius B. Harris reported today. He is much encouraged because the disease which paralyzed the legs and hips of Gov. Earl Warren's youngest daughter has not spread. But he warned again that pretty, 17-year-old "Honey Bear" will be considered "in serious danger until Sunday at the earliest." That will be one week after she developed a fever. Warren emerged from seclusion yesterday, the first time since Nina was hospitalized Tuesday—the day he rolled up a 1,000,000-plus majority in winning an unprecedented third term as California governor.

Elks Club Named For Marine Ball

At this week's meeting of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, it was announced that this year's annual ball would be held in the Elks Club on Fair street instead of at the New York State Armory.

No definite date has been set but the social event is to take place some time in January. The time will be announced by the committee on arrangements.

There will be the usual delightful features, according to Albert J. Melville, commandant, including a New York floor show. Music will be furnished by a local orchestra using outstanding musicians of this area.

The annual marine ball has always enjoyed exceptionally good patronage, and this year's crowd is expected to establish a record, judging from comments among the membership of the detachment.

Reason for moving to the Elks Club for the affair was to honor an invitation of Exalted Ruler James Connelly extended to the marines through Commandant Melville, who is also an Elk.

There will be patron tickets for those who like to join the former marines in enjoying their annual social event proceeds of which are used mainly for rehabilitation work.

ANOTHER CHILDREN PROBLEM

A letter says: "We have a new car and also some good friends whom we love. Nothing would please us more than to ask them out with us if it did not mean taking their children, too. Invariably the children will be allowed to eat something and it is all over the car. Last time the upholstery bore the brunt of candy bars. How can we handle this situation so as not to cause hurt feelings? Please do not say that the only way is not to invite them.

Since you say these are good friends who you know very well you certainly can say, "Please don't let the children eat anything sticky in the car." You may very well prevent this by offering dry popcorn or crackers, which you keep on hand—neither of which would be spoiling to the car.

Impersonal Message

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it seem forward of me to send a birthday greeting to a young man I met last summer and who took me out while I visited a cousin but from whom I haven't heard since? I know it will be his birthday soon, but I don't want to have him think I'm running after him.

Answer: Sending a birthday card certainly is the proper gesture if its message is impersonal.

A Question of Heart

Dear Mrs. Post: Co-workers have voiced their opinions this way: Why doesn't she take off he wedding ring now that her husband is not living?" Others I know think it proper for me to contine wearing it. What is right?

Answer: For so long as your husband has first place in your heart you wear your ring—in many cases this is for life and for others a shorter time.

Mourning for Child

Dear Mrs. Post: Does a mother ever go into mourning clothes for a young child?

Answer: If very young she seldom does, but she may if she wants to.

Flower Girl

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to have a flower girl when having only one adult attendant?

Answer: Yes.

Girl Scout Week

Girl Scouts are trained so that they may
Become good citizens in every way.
Good living and habits they do learn
In their hearts Americanism burns.

Future women are in their wake
Devoted wives and mothers they'll make
Support them, for they do much good
The Girl Scout cause is easily understood.

To be a Girl Scout is every girl's desire
New knowledge they do acquire
To do good deeds they always endeavor
Once a Girl Scout, a good Scout forever.

Girl Scouts stand out everywhere
Faces shining, no joy to compare
To build their land and strengthen the foundation
Girl Scouts will reach new elevation.

To our Girl Scouts any encouragement we give
The buds of womanhood will forever live
Continue your efforts, never pause
The noblest work is the Girl Scout cause.

Warren Girl Rallies

Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP) Nina Warren is "rallying splendidly" from infantile paralysis, Dr. Junius B. Harris reported today. He is much encouraged because the disease which paralyzed the legs and hips of Gov. Earl Warren's youngest daughter has not spread. But he warned again that pretty, 17-year-old "Honey Bear" will be considered "in serious danger until Sunday at the earliest." That will be one week after she developed a fever. Warren emerged from seclusion yesterday, the first time since Nina was hospitalized Tuesday—the day he rolled up a 1,000,000-plus majority in winning an unprecedented third term as California governor.

Elks Club Named For Marine Ball

At this week's meeting of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, it was announced that this year's annual ball would be held in the Elks Club on Fair street instead of at the New York State Armory.

No definite date has been set but the social event is to take place some time in January. The time will be announced by the committee on arrangements.

There will be the usual delightful features, according to Albert J. Melville, commandant, including a New York floor show. Music will be furnished by a local orchestra using outstanding musicians of this area.

The annual marine ball has always enjoyed exceptionally good patronage, and this year's crowd is expected to establish a record, judging from comments among the membership of the detachment.

Reason for moving to the Elks Club for the affair was to honor an invitation of Exalted Ruler James Connelly extended to the marines through Commandant Melville, who is also an Elk.

There will be patron tickets for those who like to join the former marines in enjoying their annual social event proceeds of which are used mainly for rehabilitation work.

Kingston High Faces Vital Test Against Middletown Squad Saturday

Middies Poised For Big Upset; NFA Battles Port

Maroon Faces Tougher Game With M.H.S.

DUSO STANDING

	W	L	Pct.
Kingston	4	0	1.000
Newburgh	3	1	.750
Middletown	1	3	.250
Port Jervis	0	4	.000

The DUSO Football League has reached the point where the opposition is bound to be tougher—it always is the second time around—and the inevitable "if" crops up in pregame speculation.

Thus, if Kingston High defeats Middletown Saturday on the Wilson Field sod and Port Jervis accomplishes the miracle of upending Newburgh Academy, the Burkemen will claim the 1950 pennant.

On the other hand—and this is most painful speculation from a Kingston standpoint — if N.F.A. tramples Port Jervis as expected and Middletown whips Kingston, then you have a flat-footed tie between Goldbacks and Maroon and a real showdown on Thanksgiving Day.

Middies Tougher

If the choice for a long shot had to be made, you would have to pick Middletown to upend Kingston. Port Jervis hasn't shown a thing all season and there is no reason to believe the Red and Black has improved to a point where it can challenge Stan Hemingway's powerhouse.

Middletown is another story and Coach Bill Burke and assistant Russ Cunningham have pounded that theme into Maroon throughout this week's drills. Don't forget, they admonished, that Port Jervis came back to whip a great Kingston a couple of years ago, after suffering an early season drubbing. This could happen again Saturday, but not if you play the game you are capable of.

Punting Improves

DUSO coaches readily admit and lament the fact that it's a tough proposition to keep a high school squad "up" the second time around the circuit.

The Maroons were "up" for Sam Kalloch's Blues in the rain and mud last Saturday and a reasonable facsimile of that performance should carry them through against the Middies.

Harold Acker's terrific punting with a wet ball against Poughkeepsie was a heartening factor in the Maroon triumph. Punting could play an important part in the two remaining struggles and Acker's recovery of his practice form provides a vital defensive weapon for the Maroons.

A hot and cold ball club that isn't as bad as its 1-3 record, Middletown could prove one of the toughest opponents of the season. The chances are that it will be a low scoring duel with Kingston holding a touchdown edge.

The tentative lineups:

Kingston	Middletown
LE—Tiano	J. Stack
LT—Engle	Cosgrove
LG—Walt Hansen	Smith
C —Hinkley	F. Brown
RG—Will Hansen	Granger
RT—Berryann	Frangos
RE—Fiore	Decker
QB—Kozlowski	Oakley
LHB—Modica	Newkirk
RHB—Acker	McClurg
FB—Stroble	Volpe

Marusic Shatters Savannah Record

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 10 (AP) — Milon Marusic of Albany, N. Y., led the field in the $10,000 Savannah Open golf tournament today after slamming out an opening round 64, eight under par.

At the same time, the assistant pro of Wolferts Roost Country Club broke the course competitive record in yesterday's torrid round.

Marusic was four strokes up on his nearest competitors—Bob Gajda of Detroit, Doug Ford of Briarcliff, N. Y., and Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C. The three carded 68's.

In a three-way tie for third place were George Fazio of Washington, D. C., Willie Goggins of White Plains, N. Y., and Felice Torza of St. Andrews, Ill., deadlocked with 69's.

Savannah amateur Bobbie McLaurin pulled the spotlight from several more widely known amateurs with a 71. Frank Stranahan, British amateur king, carded a four over par 76 and Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, N. C., a par 72.

Coast Jockey Aims for Record

Inglewood, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—Jockey Wee Willie Shoemaker gets eight more chances today to set a new modern winning record in horse racing for a single season.

The turf's newest might mite missed fire in six tries to hit the winner's circle at Hollywood Park yesterday and go on past the total of 319 he has registered to tie the mark set two years ago by Johnny Longden.

What's more, 18-year-old Shoemaker today found his eastern rival for the 1950 national riding championship, Joe Culmone, still closer to catching him.

Culmone scored two firsts at Pimlico yesterday and with 315 wins, is just four behind the little Texas-born Shoemaker.

Fourteen thousand fans kept close tab on Shoemaker but the best he could do was a second aboard Some Gal in the feature race of the day, the seventh, and a third on Hidden Moon in the sixth. He was shut out of the money on his other four mounts.

Winning in 2:06 1/5, the William Myer-driven pacer nosed out Directrix and Direct Vic, paying $8.90, $5.30 and $3.30.

Dauthuille 1-2 Choice Over Young

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Laurent Dauthuille, the capable Frenchman who missed winning the middleweight title by 13 seconds, is a strong favorite to whip tough Paddy Young tonight in a Madison Square Garden 10-rounder.

Sight unseen, the odds makers have set up Dauthuille at 1 to 2 over the game youngster from New York's Greenwich Village. This is Dauthuille's New York and television debut after a series of winning efforts at Montreal.

The Frenchman can fight, more than a little bit. He moves fast and punches hard with his right hand. He cut Jake LaMotta's eye and punished him through the early stages of their Detroit fight Sept. 13 before losing by a knockout in the 15th. On Feb. 21, 1949, he had beaten Jake in an over-the-weight scrap at Montreal.

Nobody ever called Paddy anything but a fighter. He wades in, raking his foe with his powerful left hook, forcing an opening. It shapes up as a good match that can't fail to produce action.

Each has fought 47 times as a pro. Young has won 41, lost four and fought two draws. Dauthuille has won 35, lost nine and had three draws. Young's knockout average is a little better, too; He has flattened 21 men to 19 for the Frenchman. One of Dauthuille's TKO victims was once-formidable Steve Belloise.

Hartwick's Bradley Takes Over at Duke

Oneonta, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—Hartwick's Harold Bradley has been appointed basketball coach of Duke University, and Thomas Greene succeeds him as athletic director and basketball mentor at Hartwick.

Bradley is taking over the job of Kenneth C. (Gerry) Gerard, who has left Duke because of illness.

Bradley's Hartwick basketball teams won 50 out of 68 games. His appointment to Duke was announced yesterday.

Greene has coached freshman basketball at Hartwick for four years. He is a graduate of Ithaca College.

California-UCLA Clash on Coast Headlines Saturday Grid Slate

Longhorn Coach Says He'll Quit

Austin, Tex., Nov. 10 (AP)—The University of Texas is in the market for a new head football coach—the tenth since it became a member of the Southwest Conference in 1915. Blair Cherry, headman of the Longhorns for four seasons, will retire to the oil business when the current campaign runs its course.

Cherry said yesterday he would resign at the end of the season. He will become associated with his brother, Alton Cherry, of Dallas, who said he had been trying for five years to induce Blair to give up coaching.

But business reasons were not the sole factor in Cherry's retirement. He has tired of the gridiron wolves who have been after his scalp because he hasn't won a Southwest Conference championship.

This year, however, he seems on the way to that title. Texas is the only undefeated team in the Conference race with three games to go.

Cherry has three more years on his contract. He has been receiving $12,500 a year.

Coast Tour Booked For Long Island U.

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Long Island University's basketball Blackbirds will play five western teams within eight days in a trip to the Pacific Coast this winter.

Coach Blair Bee's quintet will play in the San Francisco Cow Palace, Jan. 26 and 27, meeting San Francisco the first night and California the next night. The Blackbirds take on Arizona at Tucson, Jan. 29, Kansas State at Manhattan, Ka., Jan. 31, and St. Louis in St. Louis, Feb. 3.

Boxing Foldup

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Boxing promoters at the Jamaica Arena, a neighborhood club, have decided to give up until sometime in January when they hope to get a television sponsor for their fights. Pete Montesi and Irving Abramson said they had lost $5,000 trying to operate without television.

Ohio State Tackles Wisconsin Badgers

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—If it were a prize fight, the authorities wouldn't allow it. But it's football, so harmless little New Mexico will take popgun potshots tomorrow at mighty, top-ranking Army.

The odds makers refuse even to quote figures on this bantam-heavyweight match at West Point's Michie Stadium. Dudley Degroot's Lobos have won two games and lost five by lop-sided scores. Army, riding a 26-game unbeaten streak, has crushed six foes.

The spotlight, then, shifts from the No. 1 team in the country to the middle west and Pacific coast where titanic struggles are expected to clarify the Rose Bowl picture.

The headline attraction is at Berkeley, Calif., where the unbeaten, untied Golden Bears of California clash with the single wing precisionists of U.C.L.A.

Long Regular Streak

Pappy Waldorf's Californians have accumulated 31 straight victories in regular season play—punctuated by two Rose Bowl defeats—and are shooting for their third straight Pasadena bid. If they lick U.C.L.A., they're almost sure to get it.

The Uclans have been rated by Waldorf as the "best team we meet all year." They have dropped close decisions to Washington and Illinois but, outside of that, have scored five whopping victories.

In the Big Ten the once-beaten Wisconsin Badgers play Ohio State at Columbus. Illinois meets Iowa at Iowa City and Michigan plays Indiana.

The midlands offer another top-flight game in the old grudge duel between Oklahoma and Kansas at Lawrence, with the Jayhawkers out to settle a score with the third-ranking Sooners. Oklahma with a modern record winning streak of 27 games, is rated a 14-point favorite.

Kentucky, fourth rated, plays Mississippi State at Starkville, Miss., and rules a 20-point choice because of the passing of Babe Parilli.

Notre Dame Tackles Pitt

Texas, No. 5 and conqueror of Southern Methodist last week, tangles with Baylor at Waco, Tex., while S.M.U., which dropped to seventh behind California, tackles rugged Texas A. and M. at Dallas.

Princeton, emerging as one of the powers of the east, puts its perfect record to little risk against Harvard, which has yet to win a game.

Notre Dame, which started on the road back last week against Navy, will play Pittsburgh at South Bend. Navy will entertain Tulane, one of the tough teams from the south.

Duke and Wake Forest will meet at Durham, N. C., in one of Dixie's top games. Vanderbilt and Louisiana State clash at Nashville in another.

Other top games:

East—Colgate at Cornell, Brown at Pennsylvania, Columbia at Dartmouth, Georgetown at Fordham, West Virginia at Penn State.

Midwest—Northwestern at Purdue, Kansas State at Nebraska, Minnesota at Michigan State, Colorado at Missouri, Oklahoma A. and M. at Wichita.

Kingston High Faces Vital Test Against Middletown Squad Saturday

Middies Poised For Big Upset; NFA Battles Port

Maroon Faces Tougher Game With M.H.S.

DUSO STANDING

	W	L	Pct.
Kingston	4	0	1.000
Newburgh	3	1	.750
Middletown	1	3	.250
Port Jervis	0	4	.000

The DUSO Football League has reached the point where the opposition is bound to be tougher—it always is the second time around—and the inevitable "if" crops up in pregame speculation.

Thus, if Kingston High defeats Middletown Saturday on the Wilson Field sod and Port Jervis accomplishes the miracle of upending Newburgh Academy, the Burkemen will claim the 1950 pennant.

On the other hand—and this is most painful speculation from a Kingston standpoint — if N.F.A. tramples Port Jervis as expected and Middletown whips Kingston, then you have a flat-footed tie between Goldbacks and Maroon and a real showdown on Thanksgiving Day.

Middies Tougher

If the choice for a long shot had to be made, you would have to pick Middletown to upend Kingston. Port Jervis hasn't shown a thing all season and there is no reason to believe the Red and Black has improved to a point where it can challenge Stan Hemingway's powerhouse.

Middletown is another story and Coach Bill Burke and assistant Russ Cunningham have pounded that theme into Maroon throughout this week's drills. Don't forget, they admonished, that Port Jervis came back to whip a great Kingston a couple of years ago, after suffering an early season drubbing. This could happen again Saturday, but not if you play the game you are capable of.

Punting Improves

DUSO coaches readily admit and lament the fact that it's a tough proposition to keep a high school squad "up" the second time around the circuit.

The Maroons were "up" for Sam Kalloch's Blues in the rain and mud last Saturday and a reasonable facsimile of that performance should carry them through against the Middies.

Harold Acker's terrific punting with a wet ball against Poughkeepsie was a heartening factor in the Maroon triumph. Punting could play an important part in the two remaining struggles and Acker's recovery of his practice form provides a vital defensive weapon for the Maroons.

A hot and cold ball club that isn't as bad as its 1-3 record, Middletown could prove one of the toughest opponents of the season. The chances are that it will be a low scoring duel with Kingston holding a touchdown edge.

The tentative lineups:

Kingston	Middletown
LE—Tiano	J. Stack
LT—Engle	Cosgrove
LG—Walt Hansen	Smith
C —Hinkley	F. Brown
RG—Will Hansen	Granger
RT—Berryann	Frangos
RE—Fiore	Decker
QB—Kozlowski	Oakley
LHB—Modica	Newkirk
RHB—Acker	McClurg
FB—Stroble	Volpe

LINEMAN OF THE WEEK

Les Richter (above), California guard, is winner of this week's poll of the Associated Press for Lineman of the Week. Richter, 19-year-old junior from Fresno, was credited with a major share of California's victory over Washington last Saturday.

Marusic Shatters Savannah Record

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 10 (AP) — Milon Marusic of Albany, N. Y., led the field in the $10,000 Savannah Open golf tournament today after slamming out an opening round 64, eight under par.

At the same time, the assistant pro of Wolferts Roost Country Club broke the course competitive record in yesterday's torrid round.

Marusic was four strokes up on his nearest competitors—Bob Gajda of Detroit, Doug Ford of Briarcliff, N. Y., and Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C. The three carded 68's.

In a three-way tie for third place were George Fazio of Washington, D. C., Willie Goggins of White Plains, N. Y., and Felice Torza of St. Andrews, Ill., deadlocked with 69's.

Savannah amateur Bobbie McLaurin pulled the spotlight from several more widely known amateurs with a 71. Frank Stranahan, British amateur king, carded a four over par 76 and Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, N. C., a par 72.

Coast Jockey Aims for Record

Inglewood, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—Jockey Wee Willie Shoemaker gets eight more chances today to set a new modern winning record in horse racing for a single season.

The turf's newest might mite missed fire in six tries to hit the winner's circle at Hollywood Park yesterday and go on past the total of 319 he has registered to tie the mark set two years ago by Johnny Longden.

What's more, 18-year-old Shoemaker today found his eastern rival for the 1950 national riding championship, Joe Culmone, still closer to catching him.

Culmone scored two firsts at Pimlico yesterday and with 315 wins, is just four behind the little Texas-born Shoemaker.

Fourteen thousand fans kept close tab on Shoemaker but the best he could do was a second aboard Some Gal in the feature race of the day, the seventh, and a third on Hidden Moon in the sixth. He was shut out of the money on his other four mounts.

New Regatta

Kings Point, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP) The Kings Point Merchant Marine Academy will be host to the first annual New York invitation regatta on Nov. 11-12, it was announced today. Ten colleges are eligible including Amherst, Cornell, Kings Point; George Washington, Hobart, Navy, Princeton, Webb, Williams and the New York State Maritime Academy.

Step Is First

Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP) — Step, an 8-year-old gelding, captured the featured Woodlawn Pace at Yonkers Raceway last night in a stirring photo-finish after rushing into the lead in the last fifty yards. Winning in 2:06 1/5, the William Myer-driven pacer nosed out Directrix and Direct Vic, paying $8.90, $5.30 and $3.30.

Dauthuille 1-2 Choice Over Young

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Laurent Dauthuille, the capable Frenchman who missed winning the middleweight title by 13 seconds, is a strong favorite to whip tough Paddy Young tonight in a Madison Square Garden 10-rounder.

Sight unseen, the odds makers have set up Dauthuille at 1 to 2 over the game youngster from New York's Greenwich Village. This is Dauthuille's New York and television debut after a series of winning efforts at Montreal.

The Frenchman can fight, more than a little bit. He moves fast and punches hard with his right hand. He cut Jake LaMotta's eye and punished him through the early stages of their Detroit fight Sept. 13 before losing by a knockout in the 15th. On Feb. 21, 1949, he had beaten Jake in an over-the-weight scrap at Montreal.

Nobody ever called Paddy anything but a fighter. He wades in, raking his foe with his powerful left hook, forcing an opening. It shapes up as a good match that can't fail to produce action.

Each has fought 47 times as a pro. Young has won 41, lost four and fought two draws. Dauthuille has won 35, lost nine and had three draws. Young's knockout average is a little better, too; He has flattened 21 men to 19 for the Frenchman. One of Dauthuille's TKO victims was once-formidable Steve Belloise.

Hartwick's Bradley Takes Over at Duke

Oneonta, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—Hartwick's Harold Bradley has been appointed basketball coach of Duke University, and Thomas Greene succeeds him as athletic director and basketball mentor at Hartwick.

Bradley is taking over the job of Kenneth C. (Gerry) Gerard, who has left Duke because of illness.

Bradley's Hartwick basketball teams won 50 out of 68 games. His appointment to Duke was announced yesterday.

Greene has coached freshman basketball at Hartwick for four years. He is a graduate of Ithaca College.

California-UCLA Clash on Coast Headlines Saturday Grid Slate

Longhorn Coach Says He'll Quit

Austin, Tex., Nov. 10 (AP)—The University of Texas is in the market for a new head football coach—the tenth since it became a member of the Southwest Conference in 1915. Blair Cherry, headman of the Longhorns for four seasons, will retire to the oil business when the current campaign runs its course.

Cherry said yesterday he would resign at the end of the season. He will become associated with his brother, Alton Cherry, of Dallas, who said he had been trying for five years to induce Blair to give up coaching.

But business reasons were not the sole factor in Cherry's retirement. He has tired of the gridiron wolves who have been after his scalp because he hasn't won a Southwest Conference championship.

This year, however, he seems on the way to that title. Texas is the only undefeated team in the Conference race with three games to go.

Cherry has three more years on his contract. He has been receiving $12,500 a year.

Coast Tour Booked For Long Island U.

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Long Island University's basketball Blackbirds will play five western teams within eight days in a trip to the Pacific Coast this winter.

Coach Blair Bee's quintet will play in the San Francisco Cow Palace, Jan. 26 and 27, meeting San Francisco the first night and California the next night. The Blackbirds take on Arizona at Tucson, Jan. 29, Kansas State at Manhattan, Ka., Jan. 31, and St. Louis in St. Louis, Feb. 3.

Boxing Foldup

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Boxing promoters at the Jamaica Arena, a neighborhood club, have decided to give up until sometime in January when they hope to get a television sponsor for their fights. Pete Montesi and Irving Abramson said they had lost $5,000 trying to operate without television.

Ohio State Tackles Wisconsin Badgers

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—If it were a prize fight, the authorities wouldn't allow it. But it's football, so harmless little New Mexico will take popgun potshots tomorrow at mighty, top-ranking Army.

The odds makers refuse even to quote figures on this bantam-heavyweight match at West Point's Michie Stadium. Dudley Degroot's Lobos have won two games and lost five by lop-sided scores. Army, riding a 26-game unbeaten streak, has crushed six foes.

The spotlight, then, shifts from the No. 1 team in the country to the middle west and Pacific coast where titanic struggles are expected to clarify the Rose Bowl picture.

The headline attraction is at Berkeley, Calif., where the unbeaten, untied Golden Bears of California clash with the single wing precisionists of U.C.L.A.

Long Regular Streak

Pappy Waldorf's Californians have accumulated 31 straight victories in regular season play—punctuated by two Rose Bowl defeats—and are shooting for their third straight Pasadena bid. If they lick U.C.L.A., they're almost sure to get it.

The Uclans have been rated by Waldorf as the "best team we meet all year." They have dropped close decisions to Washington and Illinois but, outside of that, have scored five whopping victories.

In the Big Ten the once-beaten Wisconsin Badgers play Ohio State at Columbus. Illinois meets Iowa at Iowa City and Michigan plays Indiana.

The midlands offer another top-flight game in the old grudge duel between Oklahoma and Kansas at Lawrence, with the Jayhawkers out to settle a score with the third-ranking Sooners. Oklahma with a modern record winning streak of 27 games, is rated a 14-point favorite.

Kentucky, fourth rated, plays Mississippi State at Starkville, Miss., and rules a 20-point choice because of the passing of Babe Parilli.

Notre Dame Tackles Pitt

Texas, No. 5 and conqueror of Southern Methodist last week, tangles with Baylor at Waco, Tex., while S.M.U., which dropped to seventh behind California, tackles rugged Texas A. and M. at Dallas.

Baseball's Comeback of Year Award Voted to Phillies' Eddie Waitkus

Johnny Mize Wins Second Place

New York, Nov. 10 (AP) — To Eddie Waitkus, skinny first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies, goes the title of baseball's "comeback king" of 1950 and it was a story of courage in its rawest form.

The award was not given to Edward Stephen Waitkus because he had hit .284 last summer. Or because he was the best fielding first baseman in the league. Rather, it was given because of his determination to win the biggest battle of all: The battle for life.

It was only 17 months ago that Waitkus tottered on the brink of death, critically wounded by a bullet fired by a crazed girl in Chicago. Few thought he would live, much less play baseball again.

But this blond of Lithuanian ancestry showed them all, even himself.

Waitkus put in four arduous, pain-filled months of conditioning at Clearwater, Fla. At times, he became discouraged, but never gave up.

"Looking back now," Waitkus said later, "they were the four most horrible months of my life. Worse than anything in the Army—worse than New Guinea or anything in the Philippines. The pain was so severe that more than once I found myself wishing that the girl had finished the job."

Mize Draws Votes

His reward, however, was a rich one. He lived again to play the only profession he knew—and loved—baseball!

Waitkus edged out Johnny Mize of the New York Yankees in the annual Associated Press poll. Of the 368 sports writers and sportscasters who partook in the nationwide poll, 90 placed Waitkus No. 1 on their list. Mize was tabbed top choice on 79 ballots.

Mize also staged a fine comeback. The former home run king of the National League was sent to the Yankees' Kansas City farm club early in the season. He was recalled and immediately took a hand in the New Yorkers' drive toward a second straight world championship. Mize, 37, clubbed 25 home runs, and most of his hits were against pennant contending teams.

Pitchers Johnny Sain of the Boston Braves and Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell also were considered for comeback honors. Blackwell finished third with 58 votes, while Sain, a 20-game winner, placed fourth. Blackwell won 17 games for the sixth-place Reds.

FILCHOCK RETURNS TO PRO FOOTBALL IN U. S.

Frank Filchock (right) shakes hands with Abe Watner, president of the Baltimore Colts, after signing a contract to play pro football with the Colts. Filchock had been a four-year exile from the National Football League for failure to report a bribe offer. He signed the contract in Baltimore and may see action with the Colts against the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

Bowling

Frank Bruno, one of the honorary members of the Freeman League, led last night's weekly firing with a 566 series on the Bowlatorium planks, with scores of 192-195-179. A gang of regulars moved into the runnerup spots with Craig Plough toppling 537; Jim Noble 521; Charlie Diers 223-519; Jack Hartman 228-513; B. Felton 509, Art Parks 201-504; Ray Amell 501. R. O. Gruver, city editor and only man in the K.B.A. to hold two ABC individual membership cards, gave out with signs he may justify that lofty status by pounding 202-168-131-501. Failing eyesight on several spare setups hobbled him in the third game.

The scoring tempo dipped in the Bowlodrome Major, with five triples of "600" or better and a trio of near-misses. Young Jim Moss was top man with a 613 blast on scores of 194-222-197.

Clifton "Pinpoint" Quick sandbagged a 247 finale for 612; Harry Wilber had 223-212-607; John MacLellan 236-603; Cosmos Costello 202-209-603; Phil Masters 208-221-599; Randy Kelder 209-214-599; Charlie Grunenwald 222-592; Ken Joseph 211-205-589; Cliff Davis 225-589; Eddie Heins 204-583; John Ferraro 212-202-578; Lou Straley 208-574. In spite of all this occasion, the biggest accomplishment was still Mannie Colao's 227 for the third game.

Sue Heins continued to show good form in the Central Rec women's circuit with 151-159-155-465 and Jessie Burnett, golfer, finished strongly with 191-452. Others in the top five included Jennie Spada 440; Marcia Clark 439 and Marge DeWitt 415.

Bestpinfall in the No-Can-Do League went to John Frederick with a rousing 246-589 which was six sticks better than Ralph Harper's 227-583; W. Ferguson knocked off 221-571; Perc. Slover 571; Carl Beatty 201-558; Don Koeppen 548; W. Thomas 514; Bill Mohr 513; Frank Norman 212-510; Johnny Lowe 492 and Paul Khederian 200-490.

Lou Navara's 504, with top single of 196, was out in front in the Jacobson Mixed League, but league followers had even greater cheers for Edna Khederian's "422" which saved the distaff department from a complete shutout in the high scoring honor roll. Jake Chichelsky returned to his powerhouse form with 487 and Leo Bechtold and Warren Robinson each had 484; Jack Terpenning 482.

Surprise! Surprise! Those Evelyns—Gross and Francis—were one-two in yesterday's Matinee Club trundling. Mrs. Gross opened with 206 and had a 536 overall, to Mrs. Francis' 503. Four others moved over the "400" mark: Rose Rhymer 484; Eleanor Singer 459; Marge Logan 412 and Betty Freer 409.

Activity in the Commercial League was highlighted by Herm Seelbach's 230-170-184-584 effort, with Moe Lazarowitz reeling off 555; W. Miller 517; C. Diffley 516; Ed Dasher 492; Joe Brown 491; and Frank Grimaldi 483.

A new name among the high triple leaders in the Colonial Men's League cropped up last night, when E. Propp posted 166-188-193-547. Rube Leventhal missed a tie by one pin, while Al Heisman shot 533; Murray Greene 530; Bud Greenburg 518; G. Williams 511; Joe Singer 509; J. Gruberg 506.

Sisterhood League keglerettes produced five series of "400" or better, with Bea Arlensky's 155-157-160-472 setting the pace. Rosalie Eckdish was runnerup with 437; Madelyn Propp had 409; Gert Muller 408 and Frieda Lipshin 401.

Baseball's Comeback of Year Award Voted to Phillies' Eddie Waitkus

Johnny Mize Wins Second Place

New York, Nov. 10 (AP) — To Eddie Waitkus, skinny first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies, goes the title of baseball's "comeback king" of 1950 and it was a story of courage in its rawest form.

The award was not given to Edward Stephen Waitkus because he had hit .284 last summer. Or because he was the best fielding first baseman in the league. Rather, it was given because of his determination to win the biggest battle of all: The battle for life.

It was only 17 months ago that Waitkus tottered on the brink of death, critically wounded by a bullet fired by a crazed girl in Chicago. Few thought he would live, much less play baseball again.

But this blond of Lithuanian ancestry showed them all, even himself.

Waitkus put in four arduous, pain-filled months of conditioning at Clearwater, Fla. At times, he became discouraged, but never gave up.

"Looking back now," Waitkus said later, "they were the four most horrible months of my life. Worse than anything in the Army —worse than New Guinea or anything in the Philippines. The pain was so severe that more than once I found myself wishing that the girl had finished the job."

Mize Draws Votes

His reward, however, was a rich one. He lived again to play the only profession he knew—and loved—baseball!

Waitkus edged out Johnny Mize of the New York Yankees in the annual Associated Press poll. Of the 368 sports writers and sportscasters who partook in the nationwide poll, 90 placed Waitkus No. 1 on their list. Mize was tabbed top choice on 79 ballots.

Mize also staged a fine comeback. The former home run king of the National League was sent to the Yankees' Kansas City farm club early in the season. He was recalled and immediately took a hand in the New Yorkers' drive toward a second straight world championship. Mize, 37, clubbed 25 home runs, and most of his hits were against pennant contending teams.

Pitchers Johnny Sain of the Boston Braves and Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell also were considered for comeback honors. Blackwell finished third with 58 votes, while Sain, a 20-game winner, placed fourth. Blackwell won 17 games for the sixth-place Reds.

FILCHOCK RETURNS TO PRO FOOTBALL IN U. S.

Frank Filchock (right) shakes hands with Abe Watner, president of the Baltimore Colts, after signing a contract to play pro football with the Colts. Filchock had been a four-year exile from the National Football League for failure to report a bribe offer. He signed the contract in Baltimore and may see action with the Colts against the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

Bowling

Frank Bruno, one of the honorary members of the Freeman League, led last night's weekly firing with a 566 series on the Bowlatorium planks, with scores of 192-195-179. A gang of regulars moved into the runnerup spots with Craig Plough toppling 537; Jim Noble 521; Charlie Diers 223-519; Jack Hartman 228-513; B. Felton 509, Art Parks 201-504; Ray Amell 501, R. O. Gruver, city editor and only man in the K.B.A. to hold two ABC individual membership cards, gave out with signs he may justify that lofty status by pounding 202-168-131-501. Failing eyesight on several spare setups hobbled him in the third game.

The scoring tempo dipped in the Bowlodrome Major, with five triples of "600" or better and a trio of near-misses. Young Jim Moss was top man with a 613 blast on scores of 194-222-197.

Clifton "Pinpoint" Quick sandbagged a 247 finale for 612; Harry Wilber had 223-212-607; John MacLellan 236-603; Cosmos Costello 202-209-603; Phil Masters 208-221-599; Randy Kelder 209-214-599; Charlie Grunenwald 222-592; Ken Joseph 211-205-589; Cliff Davis 225-589; Eddie Heins 204-583; John Ferraro 212-202-578; Lou Straley 208-574. In spite of all this occasion, the biggest accomplishment was still Mannie Colao's 227 for the third game.

Sue Heins continued to show good form in the Central Rec women's circuit with 151-159-155-465 and Jessie Burnett, golfer, finished strongly with 191-452. Others in the top five included Jennie Spada 440; Marcia Clark 439 and Marge DeWitt 415.

Bestpinfall in the No-Can-Do League went to John Frederick with a rousing 246-589 which was six sticks better than Ralph Harper's 227-583; W. Ferguson knocked off 221-571; Perc. Slover 571; Carl Beatty 201-558; Don Koeppen 548; W. Thomas 514; Bill Mohr 513; Frank Norman 212-510; Johnny Lowe 492 and Paul Khederian 200-490.

Lou Navara's 504, with top single of 196, was out in front in the Jacobson Mixed League, but league followers had even greater cheers for Edna Khederian's "422" which saved the distaff department from a complete shutout in the high scoring honor roll. Jake Chichelsky returned to his powerhouse form with 487 and Leo Bechtold and Warren Robinson each had 484; Jack Terpenning 482.

Surprise! Surprise! Those Evelyns—Gross and Francis—were one-two in yesterday's Matinee Club trundling. Mrs. Gross opened with 206 and had a 536 overall, to Mrs. Francis' 503. Four others moved over the "400" mark: Rose Rhymer 484; Eleanor Singer 459; Marge Logan 412 and Betty Freer 409.

Activity in the Commercial League was highlighted by Herm Seelbach's 230-170-184-584 effort, with Moe Lazarowitz reeling off 555; W. Miller 517; C. Diffley 516; Ed Dasher 492; Joe Brown 491; and Frank Grimaldi 483.

A new name among the high triple leaders in the Colonial Men's League cropped up last night, when E. Propp posted 166-188-193-547. Rube Leventhal missed a tie by one pin, while Al Heisman shot 533; Murray Greene 530; Bud Greenburg 518; G. Williams 511; Joe Singer 509; J. Gruberg 506.

Sisterhood League keglerettes produced five series of "400" or better, with Bea Arlensky's 155-157-160-472 setting the pace. Rosalie Eckdish was runnerup with 437; Madelyn Propp had 409; Gert Muller 408 and Frieda Lipshin 401.

Hundreds Forced From Homes by California Blaze

San Bernardino, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—Hundreds fled their homes in the darkness today as a fire swept by 50-mile-an-hour winds threatened much of the city's northern residential sector.

Firemen said it was almost out after a six-hour fight.

At one point, police reported hundreds of homes burning, while pajama clad residents—many of them women and children—played garden hoses on roofs. But as dawn came, only one home on a hilltop appeared a complete loss. A half-dozen others were badly damaged and spot burns and charred paint showed on many more.

A two-mile strip several blocks wide in places, but largely brushland, was blackened.

San Bernardino's northern sector runs into the mountains, and it was there that the fire started, apparently from a power line blown down by the near gale.

Republicans Poll 52 Per Cent of Votes

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Republican candidates in the aggregate polled slightly more than 52 per cent of the off-year record total of over 40,700,000 votes cast Tuesday.

The figures are based on state totals which are still incomplete in most states. Even so, they show that at least 40,727,213 ballots were cast.

The previous peak in a non-presidential year was 37,304,380 in 1938. The figure in 1946 was 35,874,568 and in 1942 it was 30,024,927.

The Associated Press compilation used the highest vote in each state. In most instances that was either for governor or senator.

Republicans outvoted the Democrats 21,049,778 to 18,684,129—or approximately 52.3 per cent to 46.3. In the 1948 presidential election, Democrats polled about 49.3 per cent of the total and the Republicans about 45 per cent.

Most states have not completed tabulation of minor parties' votes cast Tuesday. Those which had, credited minor parties with 598,118. Added to the major party votes, that made 40,332,025.

In Georgia, however, the vote on a constitutional amendment exceeded the party vote by 259,642 and that in Alabama on an amendment surpassed the party figure by 135,546, bringing the total incomplete popular figure to 40,727,213.

Would Recognize Reds

Rome, Nov. 10 (AP)—Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza told the Chamber of Deputies yesterday that Italy is trying to establish diplomatic relations with Communist China. Sforza spoke in answer to Red Deputy Giancarlo Paietta who accused the Italian government of "not having established diplomatic relations with (Communist) China, while Britain and other nations like Switzerland, Denmark and Israel had already done so."

Will Think It Over

Passaic, N. J., Nov. 10 (AP)—A refrigerator repairman told a judge yesterday he wasn't drunk—it was cooling fluid fumes he inhaled while working in a tavern that made him that way. And what's more, Joseph Gardella said, he was treated for methyl chloride intoxication before. A doctor backed him up and added that sniffing the stuff could lead to a jag similar to liquor. Magistrate Pashman said he'd think it over before deciding the case.

Kills Two and Self

Stockton, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—Police said a 26-year-old man killed his estranged wife and her sister, then himself with a volley of shots from a .22 caliber revolver last night. Police identified the dead as William Garner, Mrs. Patsy Garner, 24, and her sister, Mrs. Margaret Langford, 28. The shooting occurred at a restaurant where Mrs. Garner worked as a waitress. She was shot six times and her sister three times.

Mrs. Rosenberg Named Assistant Defense Secretary

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP) — Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg of New York has been recommended by Secretary of Defense Marshall for the highest post ever held by a woman in the military branch of the government—assistant secretary of defense.

Mrs. Rosenbrg has yet to be appointed by President Truman and confirmed by the Senate. A Defense Department announcement indicated, however, that both of these developments are considered a certainty. It said:

"Mrs. Rosenberg, in addition to performing the duties of assistant secretary of defense, will specialize in matter related to manpower and personnel policy, both subjects in which she is an acknowledged authority."

Would Succeed Griffith

She would succeed Paul H. Griffith, a former national commander of the American Legion. Griffith resigned his Defense Department post last September after President Truman dropped Louis Johnson from the cabinet office now held by Gen. Marshall.

Mrs. Rosenberg has served in a number of high-level government positions since 1935, including posts as regional director of the NRA, the Social Security administration, and the War Manpower Commission.

Born in Budapest, Hungary, she came to the United States in 1912 and was naturalized in 1919. She is 48.

Mrs. Rosenberg went to Europe as a personal representative of President Roosevelt in 1944 and of President Truman in 1945 to report on problems of returning soldiers.

Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower awarded her the Medal of Freedom in 1945, and she received the Medal for Merit in 1947.

She is now a member of the committee on mobilization policy of the national securities resources board, and is a special consultant on manpower problems to W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the NSRB.

Would Cut Margin

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 10 (AP)—Republicans, hopeful of further reducing the shaky margin by which Democrats retained control of the U. S. Senate, put the finishing touches today on petitions for a recount in Connecticut's short term Senate race. The deadline for asking a recount in the nip-and-tuck contest—which showed William Benton, Democratic incumbent, the apparent victor over Republican Prescott Bush by less than 1,000 votes—expires at midnight tonight. GOP lawyers expressed confidence the petitions would be ready for presentation to a justice of the State Supreme Court long before that time.

Mrs. Jolson Guardian

Los Angeles, Nov. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Erle Jolson has been appointed guardian of the person and estate of adopted son, Asa, who was left a $500,000 trust fund by the late Al Jolson. The widow took the legal action yesterday as a safeguard. Jolson, who died Oct. 24, also left $500,000 in trust for "Alecia Jolson, whom I am about to adopt," but no mention was made of this child in the court hearing. Most of the singer's $4,000,000 estate has been earmarked for charities.

Unseasonable Cold Pervades Big Area

(By The Associated Press)

Winter's raw elements, cold, snow and strong winds, brought unseasonable weather for large parts of the country today.

Temperatures—far below normal levels—dipped to winter season marks in many parts of the frosty belt from the Rockies to the Ohio valley and into central Texas and Arkansas.

They skidded to 18 below in Laramie, Wyo., and below zero readings were reported in other parts of Wyoming and sections of Colorado. Denver's early morning low was -6. Below freezing was general over the mid-continent area.

The only mild weather reported by federal weather bureau forecasters was over the southeast Atlantic coast states.

Snow whipped across the upper Great Lakes region and there were snow showers south to northern Missouri and central Illinois. Six and seven inch falls were reported in parts of Minnesota and Michigan.

Temperatures were 20 to 25 degrees below normal over most of the cold belt. Forecasters said the abnormal cold would continue over most of the central part of the nation for at least 24 hours. The cold air moderated as it moved eastward to the Atlantic seaboard.

Hundreds Forced From Homes by California Blaze

San Bernardino, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—Hundreds fled their homes in the darkness today as a fire swept by 50-mile-an-hour winds threatened much of the city's northern residential sector.

Firemen said it was almost out after a six-hour fight.

At one point, police reported hundreds of homes burning, while pajama clad residents—many of them women and children—played garden hoses on roofs. But as dawn came, only one home on a hilltop appeared a complete loss. A half-dozen others were badly damaged and spot burns and charred paint showed on many more.

A two-mile strip several blocks wide in places, but largely brushland, was blackened.

San Bernardino's northern sector runs into the mountains, and it was there that the fire started, apparently from a power line blown down by the near gale.

Republicans Poll 52 Per Cent of Votes

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Republican candidates in the aggregate polled slightly more than 52 per cent of the off-year record total of over 40,700,000 votes cast Tuesday.

The figures are based on state totals which are still incomplete in most states. Even so, they show that at least 40,727,213 ballots were cast.

The previous peak in a non-presidential year was 37,304,380 in 1938. The figure in 1946 was 35,874,568 and in 1942 it was 30,024,927.

The Associated Press compilation used the highest vote in each state. In most instances that was either for governor or senator.

Republicans outvoted the Democrats 21,049,778 to 18,684,129—or approximately 52.3 per cent to 46.3. In the 1948 presidential election, Democrats polled about 49.3 per cent of the total and the Republicans about 45 per cent.

Most states have not completed tabulation of minor parties' votes cast Tuesday. Those which had, credited minor parties with 598,118. Added to the major party votes, that made 40,332,025.

In Georgia, however, the vote on a constitutional amendment exceeded the party vote by 259,642 and that in Alabama on an amendment surpassed the party figure by 135,546, bringing the total incomplete popular figure to 40,727,213.

Would Recognize Reds

Rome, Nov. 10 (AP)—Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza told the Chamber of Deputies yesterday that Italy is trying to establish diplomatic relations with Communist China. Sforza spoke in answer to Red Deputy Giancarlo Paietta who accused the Italian government of "not having established diplomatic relations with (Communist) China, while Britain and other nations like Switzerland, Denmark and Israel had already done so."

Will Think It Over

Passaic, N. J., Nov. 10 (AP)—A refrigerator repairman told a judge yesterday he wasn't drunk—it was cooling fluid fumes he inhaled while working in a tavern that made him that way. And what's more, Joseph Gardella said, he was treated for methyl chloride intoxication before. A doctor backed him up and added that sniffing the stuff could lead to a jag similar to liquor. Magistrate Pashman said he'd think it over before deciding the case.

Kills Two and Self

Stockton, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—Police said a 26-year-old man killed his estranged wife and her sister, then himself with a volley of shots from a .22 caliber revolver last night. Police identified the dead as William Garner, Mrs. Patsy Garner, 24, and her sister, Mrs. Margaret Langford, 28. The shooting occurred at a restaurant where Mrs. Garner worked as a waitress. She was shot six times and her sister three times.

Mrs. Rosenberg Named Assistant Defense Secretary

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP) — Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg of New York has been recommended by Secretary of Defense Marshall for the highest post ever held by a woman in the military branch of the government—assistant secretary of defense.

Mrs. Rosenbrg has yet to be appointed by President Truman and confirmed by the Senate. A Defense Department announcement indicated, however, that both of these developments are considered a certainty. It said:

"Mrs. Rosenberg, in addition to performing the duties of assistant secretary of defense, will specialize in matter related to manpower and personnel policy, both subjects in which she is an acknowledged authority."

Would Succeed Griffith

She would succeed Paul H. Griffith, a former national commander of the American Legion. Griffith resigned his Defense Department post last September after President Truman dropped Louis Johnson from the cabinet office now held by Gen. Marshall.

Mrs. Rosenberg has served in a number of high-level government positions since 1935, including posts as regional director of the NRA, the Social Security administration, and the War Manpower Commission.

Born in Budapest, Hungary, she came to the United States in 1912 and was naturalized in 1919. She is 48.

Mrs. Rosenberg went to Europe as a personal representative of President Roosevelt in 1944 and of President Truman in 1945 to report on problems of returning soldiers.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower awarded her the Medal of Freedom in 1945, and she received the Medal for Merit in 1947.

She is now a member of the committee on mobilization policy of the national securities resources board, and is a special consultant on manpower problems to W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the NSRB.

Would Cut Margin

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 10 (AP)—Republicans, hopeful of further reducing the shaky margin by which Democrats retained control of the U. S. Senate, put the finishing touches today on petitions for a recount in Connecticut's short term Senate race. The deadline for asking a recount in the nip-and-tuck contest—which showed William Benton, Democratic incumbent, the apparent victor over Republican Prescott Bush by less than 1,000 votes—expires at midnight tonight. GOP lawyers expressed confidence the petitions would be ready for presentation to a justice of the State Supreme Court long before that time.

Mrs. Jolson Guardian

Los Angeles, Nov. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Erle Jolson has been appointed guardian of the person and estate of adopted son, Asa, who was left a $500,000 trust fund by the late Al Jolson. The widow took the legal action yesterday as a safeguard. Jolson, who died Oct. 24, also left $500,000 in trust for "Alecia Jolson, whom I am about to adopt," but no mention was made of this child in the court hearing. Most of the singer's $4,000,000 estate has been earmarked for charities.

Unseasonable Cold Pervades Big Area

(By The Associated Press)

Winter's raw elements, cold, snow and strong winds, brought unseasonable weather for large parts of the country today.

Temperatures—far below normal levels—dipped to winter season marks in many parts of the frosty belt from the Rockies to the Ohio valley and into central Texas and Arkansas.

They skidded to 18 below in Laramie, Wyo., and below zero readings were reported in other parts of Wyoming and sections of Colorado. Denver's early morning low was -6. Below freezing was general over the mid-continent area.

The only mild weather reported by federal weather bureau forecasters was over the southeast Atlantic coast states.

Snow whipped across the upper Great Lakes region and there were snow showers south to northern Missouri and central Illinois. Six and seven inch falls were reported in parts of Minnesota and Michigan.

Temperatures were 20 to 25 degrees below normal over most of the cold belt. Forecasters said the abnormal cold would continue over most of the central part of the nation for at least 24 hours. The cold air moderated as it moved eastward to the Atlantic seaboard.

United Church Canvassers Meet

Vernon K. Hoover, assistant to the general secretary of United Promotion for the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., shown seated third from the left, addressed the dinner meeting Thursday night for workers on the United Church Canvass at Trinity Lutheran Church. Also shown in the photo, seated, are District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, a prominent member of the host church; Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of schools; Vernon Hoover and Dr. C. Carner Cain, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian and Wurts Street Baptist Church. Standing from left are the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church; the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of the host church; Oscar Lawatsch, president of the Trinity Lutheran Church congregation; and the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the Old First Church. (Freeman Photo)

fact that the church must extend its influence not only in foreign fields, but also here in America.

The speaker pointed out that there are many newly developed areas in this country, areas that are "miles in length" and contain thousands of new homes. But, he said, "there are not enough churches around."

He attributed the lack of desire to extend church work not to any lack of devotion but rather to a lack of understanding of the need.

"If the people really knew the situation, they would care—then they would surely share," he said.

The church must dramatize to the people the urgency of the situation, Hoover said.

Cites Mixed Values

Terming America a land of "mixed up values," Hoover pointed out that in the United States $8,500,000,000 is spent annually for alcohol, six billion for gambling, four billion for tobacco, two billion for motion pictures and only one and a half billion for "God, the church and charity."

Thursday night's dinner meeting at Trinity Lutheran Church was attended by nearly 200 persons who on Sunday will canvass the members of the 13 Protestant churches they represent in order to receive pledges for each church's own budget.

Arthur J. Laidlaw, chairman of United Church Canvass in Kingston, termed the meeting a great "demonstration of unity."

The canvassers were welcomed to Trinity Lutheran Church by Oscar Lawatsch. The ladies of the church served the dinner.

Guests Are Present

Among the guests who addressed the group briefly was District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn. The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Dr. William C. Cain, pastor of Rondout Presbyterian-Wurts Street Baptist Church. Invocation was given by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra of the Fair Street Reformed Church and the benediction was given by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool of First Dutch Reformed Church.

The 13 cooperating churches will observe Loyalty Sunday on November 12. Pastors will urge their congregations to remain at home that afternoon when, beginning at 2 p. m., the canvassers from each church will make an every-member canvass for budget pledges.

Patrolmen Elect

Thomas Tomshaw, financial secretary.

Officers Janasiewicz and Ellsworth were re-elected, the others are new in the posts which they will take over on January 1.

Commissioner William Singer attended the session held after election to talk about the boxing show the P.B.A. is backing to raise funds for the Kingston Boys Club, and thanked the patrolmen for their cooperation in aiding the youngsters.

The patrolmen have sponsored a number of projects for the boys club which they consider one of the best means of eliminating juvenile delinquency.

The retiring president is Guernsey Burger, Jr., a member of the motorcycle traffic squad, under whose leadership the P.B.A. enjoyed a successful year.

a hoax." McCarthy called that a "whitewash" and went into Maryland to campaign against Tydings.

McCarthy has had three investigators digging up new material for him ever since the Tydings committee concluded its inquiry. He is planning to let fly at the State Department again soon.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), who won overwhelming re-election, said in his home state that a "genuine" loyalty investigation of the State Department is needed. Hickenlooper and Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) were minority members of Tydings committee. They refused to sign the report denouncing McCarthy.

Also shown in the photo, seated, are District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, a prominent member of the host church; Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of schools; Vernon Hoover and Dr. C. fact that the church must extend its influence not only in foreign fields, but also here in America.

The speaker pointed out that there are many newly developed areas in this country, areas that are "miles in length" and contain thousands of new homes. But, he said, "there are not enough churches around."

He attributed the lack of desire to extend church work not to any lack of devotion but rather to a lack of understanding of the need.

"If the people really knew the situation, they would care—then they would surely share," he said.

The church must dramatize to the people the urgency of the situation, Hoover said.

Cites Mixed Values

Terming America a land of "mixed up values," Hoover pointed out that in the United States $8,500,000,000 is spent annually for alcohol, six billion for gambling, four billion for tobacco, two billion for motion pictures and only one and a half billion for "God, the church and charity."

Thursday night's dinner meeting at Trinity Lutheran Church was attended by nearly 200 persons who on Sunday will canvass the members of the 13 Protestant churches they represent in order to receive pledges for each church's own budget.

Arthur J. Laidlaw, chairman of United Church Canvass in Kingston, termed the meeting a great "demonstration of unity."

The canvassers were welcomed to Trinity Lutheran Church by Oscar Lawatsch. The ladies of the church served the dinner.

Guests Are Present

Among the guests who addressed the group briefly was District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn. The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Dr. William C. Cain, pastor of Rondout Presbyterian-Wurts Street Baptist Church. Invocation was given by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra of the Fair Street Reformed Church and the benediction was given by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool of First Dutch Reformed Church.

The 13 cooperating churches will observe Loyalty Sunday on November 12. Pastors will urge their congregations to remain at home that afternoon when, beginning at 2 p. m., the canvassers from each church will make an every-member canvass for budget pledges.

Patrolmen Elect

Thomas Tomshaw, financial secretary.

Officers Janasiewicz and Ellsworth were re-elected, the others are new in the posts which they will take over on January 1.

Commissioner William Singer attended the session held after election to talk about the boxing show the P.B.A. is backing to raise funds for the Kingston Boys Club, and thanked the patrolmen for their cooperation in aiding the youngsters.

The patrolmen have sponsored a number of projects for the boys club which they consider one of the best means of eliminating juvenile delinquency.

The retiring president is Guernsey Burger, Jr., a member of the motorcycle traffic squad, under whose leadership the P.B.A. enjoyed a successful year.

a hoax." McCarthy called that a "whitewash" and went into Maryland to campaign against Tydings.

McCarthy has had three investigators digging up new material for him ever since the Tydings committee concluded its inquiry. He is planning to let fly at the State Department again soon.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), who won overwhelming re-election, said in his home state that a "genuine" loyalty investigation of the State Department is needed. Hickenlooper and Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) were minority members of Tydings committee. They refused to sign the report denouncing McCarthy.
